Dominion Day Recalls Tension Of Other Years

Canada today celebrates the 73rd anniversary of Confederation with her land, sea and air forces on the Motherland's lines of defence and reinforcements mobilizing and training in a score of camps throughout the Dominion.

The anniversary recalls other Dominion Days when war tension was heavy and thoughts of the nation turned to Canada's fighting men overseas. On July 1, 1915, the 1st Canadian Division was in the line in Flanders, but comparatively inactive after the severe fighting of Festubert and Givenchy. The 2nd Division was in training at Shorncliffe Camp in England. Throughout Canada the day's celebrations were featured by a wave of recruiting meetings.

"Canada and the Great War" records that July 1, 1916, was celebrated with sports and games in the Canadian corps area in France. "But all was not play. To commemorate this day a special shoot was arranged and about noon the artillery let loose all their guns and howitzers over the German trenches. The enemy evidently thought that an attack in force was meditated and replied with a vigorous bombardment, throwing an enormous number of shells into the Canadian front trenches and back areas."

Dominion Day, 1917, found the Canadian Corps in the course of reconstruction for heavy work ahead. There were special Dominion Day sports. Six days later they were ordered to relieve the 17th Imperial Corps in the line. On July 1, 1918, the corps was in the midst of reinforcement and rigorous rehearsal from the great battle of Amiens, where the Canadians were the centre of the attacking line that opened the Allies' smash to victory.

IDEALS OF FOUNDERS

Great was the vision of Canada's Fathers of Confederation in 1867 but little they saw of the part their carefully nurtured Dominion was to play in the great wars of Europe in the ensuing 75 years. But one historian remarked: "There was in the minds of the Canadian statesmen the need of unity as a bulwark of aggression from the United States."

Sir John Macdonald, the first Prime Minister, had this view: "If we can obtain a vigorous general government, we shall not be New Brunswickers, nor Nova Scotians, nor Canadians, but British Americans under the sway of a British sovereign." He commented on the "dreary waste of colonial politics" with which he said he had been associated for 20 years.

George Brown, vigorous reformer among the Confederation Fathers, said it meant one united government under the British flag from shore to shore. Sir George Etienne Cartier, leader of the Quebec advocates for union, declared confederation was necessary to increase Canada's power and maintain the ties that attached her to the mother country.

The Statute of Westminster, 1931, made Canada one of the "autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate, one to another, in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by common allegiance to the Crown and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

In the original confederation of 1867, the two old United Canada areas of Ontario and Quebec,

SCREEN VETERAN BEN TURPIN DEAD

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ben Turpin, 65, old-time screen star famous for his crossed eyes, died today.

A native of New Orleans, Turpin was one of the screen's first slapstick comedians. Before that, he played burlesque for Sam T. Jack in Chicago and spent 11 years in vaudeville.

He made scores of one and two-reelers in the old days. He topped off his career with "Swing High" in 1930, came back in 1935 for an educational short, then made an appearance last year in "Hollywood Cavalcade."

More for Timber

LONDON (CP)—Licensing of all timber sales in an effort to conserve Britain's supplies was announced today by the Ministry of Supply, which also revealed plans to increase prices.

Making the announcement, a spokesman emphasized that all European timber supplies are now closed to Britain, including those of France, and the only main market left open is Canada.

Homes for Children

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Herbert A. Bruce stated today homes have been found for the 100 refugee children Lady Tweedsmuir asked her to place in Canada. The homes were offered within a short time after the widow of Canada's former Governor-General had cabled a request seeking homes for children of some of her friends.

Nazis on Jersey

BERLIN (AP by Radio)—The Berlin radio asserted today that the islands of Guernsey and Jersey in the English Channel have been occupied by German troops.

(British demilitarized these islands last week, withdrawing all armed forces from them.) The German high command said Nazi forces landed on Guernsey yesterday and Jersey today.

(These two islands lie much closer to the German-occupied French coast than to England and probably were considered undesirable by the British command.) (The British government announced today that all communications with the Channel Islands had been suspended.)

"Aerial" Tanks and Parachutists Fighting

Soviet Speeds Rumania March, Accused of Planning Oil Grab

Reasons why warring nations find Rumania desirable; oil wells and storage tanks near Ploesti.

BUCHAREST (AP)—Trainloads of Rumanian wounded arrived in the capital shortly after noon today. They were understood to have been wounded in clashes with Russian troops on the Prut River.

At the same time military quarters declared the probability of further clashes between Rumanian and Russian forces was heightened by the fact the Russian army was increasing the tempo of its occupation of ceded Bessarabia and northern Bukovina.

Pro-German Bucharest newspapers, charged editorially that Russia was planning destruction of Rumanian oil fields from which Germany otherwise would receive gasoline.

Parachute Troops Round Up Groups

Today, it was reported, Soviet parachute troops were dropped on parts of the two provinces not yet occupied. But whether fighting still was going on could not be determined. The best available information was that the occupation was proceeding in a more orderly fashion.

The Russians, however, were reported still showing haste. Refugees said Russian state police agents and Soviet shock troops were dropped by parachute in many towns and villages. Rumanian officials expressed belief this was to round up aristocrats and large landowners and prevent removal of gold and other valuables from the occupied area.

CONDEMNED IN BATCHES

Officials returning from the occupied territories declared Russian military trials were condemning Rumanians "in whole sale batches." They reported refugees had been shot while attempting to sneak through Russian lines into old Rumania.

Reports were brought in that the Russians were setting up military governments in the most important centres and that in other places, they were turning over management to hastily organized Soviets.

While the Russian occupation of Bessarabia and northern Bukovina went on steadily, the lower Danube, Germany's waterway to the east, was dominated by the guns of Russian baby tanks landed by planes.

Official quarters said the Soviet occupation was being carried out in orderly manner after a series of sharp clashes yesterday between Soviet and Rumanian troops, but the Rumanian government continued to step up its defences and indicated in a number of ways that it regards the situation as highly uncertain.

Considerable concern was caused by the fact Russian troops had crossed at several points the boundary of the ceded territory and by evidence that the Russians were in a great hurry to complete the occupation.

Under terms of an agreement with Moscow, Rumanian troops have until noon Wednesday to leave the ceded territory.

Tank Exploit Came as Surprise

Landing of the tanks suspended between the wheels of big transport planes, caught the Rumanian garrison at Beni by surprise; and it was believed the Red troops took over considerable quantities of military material.

Russian parachute troops were landed simultaneously at Bolgrad, 20 miles northwest of Beni. The fact the Russians now are in position to close off the Danube if they desire, was viewed in diplomatic circles as a serious threat to German interests.

The Rumanian general staff described as "local incidents" the clashes between Rumanian and Russian troops yesterday, but usually reliable sources said the fighting was on a much larger scale than officially was admitted.

Hungary Speeds Massing of Army

BUDAPEST (AP)—The mobilization of a Hungarian army corps on the Rumanian frontier accompanied by the calling of reservists throughout Hungary was followed tonight by a Hungarian news-agency claim that "the general impression is that Rumania is on the point of collapse."

'Protection' For Magyars

The agency's claim that Rumania is crumbling was linked with the consistently reiterated official view that such a collapse would call for the immediate entry of the Hungarian army into Transylvania to protect a Magyar minority there of almost 2,000,000.

At noon today police visited all restaurants, cafes and hotels in Budapest, forbidding the sale of any alcoholic beverage for four days.

Border Guards Involved in Clashes

Official sources said Rumanian border guards fired on Hungarian guards yesterday at Vichybad. When the Hungarians answered their fire, they claimed, the Rumanians retreated.

One house on Rumanian soil was said to have been burned to the ground.

Official quarters also said three inhabitants of Fekete-Gyarmat, south of Ant on Hungarian territory, were shot at by Rumanian troops. It was not learned whether there were any casualties.

One report, which could not be verified immediately, said Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Regent of Hungary, had returned to the capital from his summer residence at Kenderes.

The Hungarian government announced several days ago it had decided to "make control more severe all along the Rumanian border" because of the unsettled situation in Rumania. Large Rumanian forces long have been established in Transylvania, rich agricultural province which was part of Austria-Hungary before the first Great War.

Official sources here previously have said that Hungary's border troops would march into Transylvania with full support of the Rome-Berlin axis if Soviet Russia should overstep the Rumanian areas ceded to her.

Turkey Sends Troops To Bulgar Boundary

Uncertainty over Russian intentions, stimulated by reports of Soviet demands for a hand in controlling the Dardanelles, led Turkey and Bulgaria, as well as Hungary and Rumania, to take new precautions today.

Heavy Turkish troop concentrations were reported near the Bulgarian frontier on the chance Russia might thrust through Rumania and Bulgaria toward the Dardanelles.

Bulgaria concentrated more than 250,000 men on the Rumanian and Turkish frontiers.

By DANIEL DE LUCE
JASSY, Rumania (AP)—A flood of human misery poured into here today from Bessarabia as spike-capped Russian troops took control at the frontier bridgehead 14 miles north of this city at 4 p.m. (5 a.m. P.S.T.).

The desperate refugees carried their bedding and a stick or two of furniture on their backs while barefooted children trudged alongside their homeless elders on many country roads.

Drenched by rain until their clothes hung as shapeless and aimless as their hopes for the future, this latest refugee horde in Europe streamed endlessly into old Rumania.

Need of Passports Curtails Travel

The United States Immigration Department officers here refused the request of the only Canadian who sought this morning to secure entry into the United States without a passport, the need for which became imperative today under recent immigration amendments.

The new legislation caused a great reduction in Dominion Day traffic to Seattle and Port Angeles and the flow of Victoria visitors to the United States through Port Angeles, Seattle and Anacortes is expected to drop to a trickle for some days. A small number of application forms for passports has reached the city. These must be filled and sent to the passport office, Department of External Affairs, Ottawa, with $1 and two pictures. The passports will then be issued from the federal capital.

TRAFFIC HEAVY LAST WEEK
Victorians who make a practice of spending part of their vacations in the United States availed themselves of the comparative freedom allowed up to today by entering before the deadline. Crowds thronged the steamers plying between this city and United States ports all last week and particularly on Saturday and yesterday.

Last night U.S. immigration officials detained a dozen prospective passengers from eastern Canada for a final check-up. The delay cost them their chances of getting across the border without passports.

While regulations were strictly observed today, it was thought in some quarters early provision would be made for emergency passports that would permit Canadians, without the regular papers, to secure entry for certain urgent purposes. That, however, was pure speculation.

In addition to curtailing Canadian travel, the new law was not without its domestic repercussions. The head of one Victoria family, with some children born in the United States and some in this country, had to make a special trip to Port Angeles over the week-end to ensure a return permit for himself south of the border.

MUST VALIDATE VISAS

OTTAWA (CP)—All temporary visitors' visas issued prior to June 6, 1940, for traveling in the United States are required to be validated by a U.S. consular officer before further use for travel in the United States can be permitted, it was announced at the U.S. legation last night.

These visas were issued to other than Canadians and were good for one year from the date of issue. The new instruction with regard to them is in conformity with the requirement that from tomorrow Canadians must carry passports to secure entry into the United States.

At the external affairs department it was learned, however, that Canadians already resident in the United States need not have a passport. These Canadians would have entered the United States with a visa under immigration regulations before the new passport regulation went into effect.

Londoner Arrested

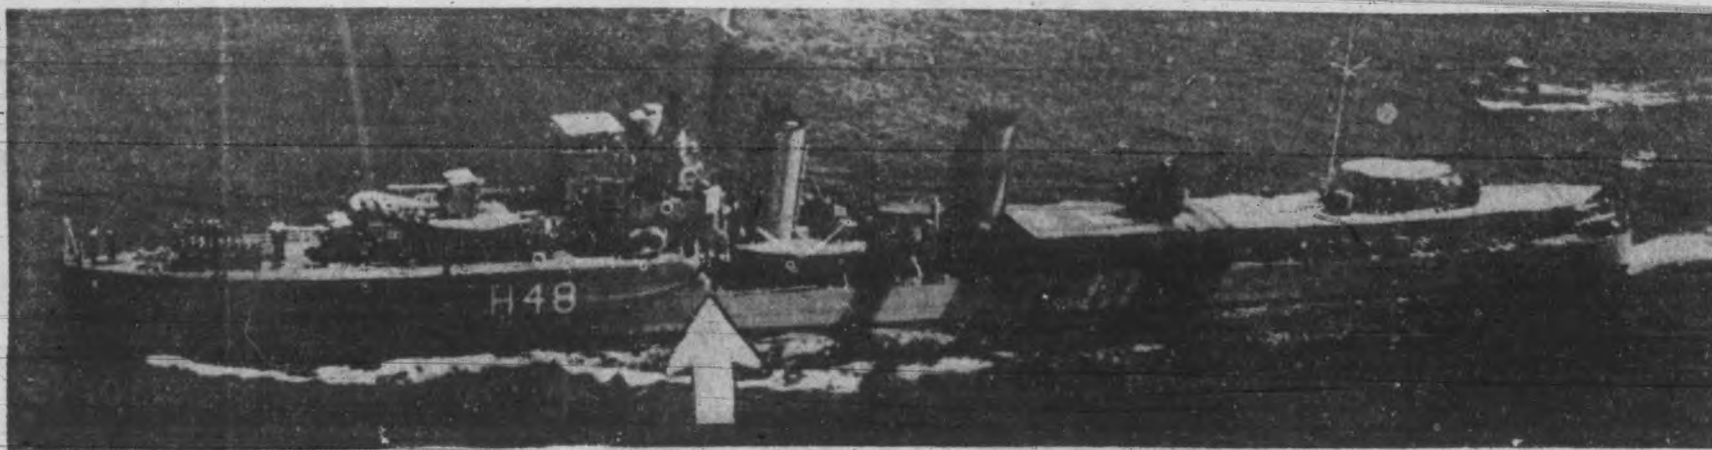

LONDON (CP)—Warned by Harold Nicolson, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Information, that what was needed was "a burst of outraged patriotism through which no invader, however mechanized, would be able to pass," Britain today took another step against suspected subversive activity.

Scotland Yard announced the arrest of Ronald White, expert in the London subway floodgate system which guards against flooding in case of damage to underground sections of the underground railway. White is in Brixton jail, awaiting removal to an internment camp.

Newspapers Reduced

LONDON (CP)—Morning newspapers were reduced from eight to six pages today to save paper.

R.A.F. Takes Initiative

Bombers Smash Bases, Cut Nazi Factories' Output

LONDON (CP)—Amplifying Air Ministry communiques of R.A.F. raids on Germany and German-occupied areas in France, Belgium and Holland throughout last week, observers here today said information leaking out of Germany indicated these attacks were taking their toll of industrial production, with many factories being forced to abandon night shifts.

These sources said information seeping into Britain from Germany indicated serious curtailment of Nazi industrial output as a result of the continued raids. It was stated Britain, having thus obtained initiative in the air, now intends to keep it.

Chamberlain Replies:

'Fight Him on Every Road,
Every Village, Every House'

LONDON (CP)—Neville Chamberlain, former Prime Minister and now President of the Council, says: "Tales about disunion among us" are the work of German propaganda, and that Britain never will consent to enter peace negotiations with the Nazis.

"We would rather go down to ruin than admit the dominion of the Nazis," he said in a world-wide broadcast, reiterating his faith in an eventual victory of the Allies.

Mr. Chamberlain began his speech with this sentence: "The first thing I want to say to you tonight is that all members of the war cabinet are working together in complete harmony and agreement."

PLAY NAZI GAME

Then he declared: "Anyone who lends himself to German propaganda and listens to idle tales about disunion among us, or who imagines that any of us would consent to enter upon peace negotiations with the enemy is just playing the Nazi game."

Mr. Chamberlain said that "at any moment" Germany may attempt an invasion of Britain and "may manage here and there to make a break through."

"If he does," he said echoing the words of Prime Minister Churchill, "we will fight him on every road, in every village, in every house until he or we are utterly destroyed."

SOLID AND UNITED

"We are a solid and united nation," Mr. Chamberlain said. "We intend, under the leadership of the Prime Minister, to attack our enemies and meet their attacks upon us with resolution and fighting spirit which become a great people."

"No doubt the air raids we have lately experienced are only the prelude to something more serious. The Nazis are staking everything upon the chances of winning a short war. We know that they are even now completing their preparations for an attempt to engage this country. At any moment that invasion may be launched by sea and air."

"But the enemy is divided from us by a more formidable anti-tank obstacle than any he has yet encountered, namely: The sea. Our navy, which is still growing, is vastly superior to the German, and our warships must be eluded or driven off before any sea-going expedition can land on our shores."

"Don't forget that even if an expedition were safely landed, it would still have to be supplied in the main, at any rate by sea, with all that a modern army requires to fight on the face of fierce resistance."

"Then consider the position in the air. Our air force is stronger in numbers today than it has been since the beginning of the war, and at the same time is superior in equipment, training and morale to that of the enemy. Our air force would have to be destroyed or driven off before the enemy could land safely from sea or from air."

"Then we have our land forces. At this moment there is a larger army in this country than there ever has been during the whole of our history, an army of which a large part are seasoned troops who have not only met the enemy already in battle but have felt their own superiority to him."

The speech got an unfriendly response from the tabloid Daily Mirror, which described it as a "voice broadcasting out of the dreamy past."

"One and all, they are animated by the same fighting spirit which will never give in."

The speech got an unfriendly response from the tabloid Daily Mirror, which described it as a "voice broadcasting out of the dreamy past."

"It concluded with the demand: 'In God's name, go!'"

The London Evening News' comment on the broadcast was that it "told us nothing we did not know or could not guess for ourselves," and was addressed "not so much to the citizens of the island as to them on the other side of the Atlantic whose ears have been poisoned by Nazi rumors of dissension and strife inside the cabinet."

"But perhaps it is wise to remind the people of America that we are not governed by Marshal Petain," said the News.

REFUTES PEACE TALK

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Herald Tribune today viewed yesterday's broadcast address in London by Neville Chamberlain as the British government's answer to talk in some sections of the American press in the last few days of a possible negotiated peace.

"One can believe that in this case Mr. Chamberlain—even Mr. Chamberlain—means exactly what he says if only because it is now so impossible that any Briton, of whatever class or politics, could mean anything else," said the paper.

"Some things Hitler has at last taught his enemies—that no possible basis for peace or even armistice exists short of total surrender. . . The British know that if they yield they can hope for nothing."

"Even as Hitler has been spreading and perhaps diluting the fierce energies which he evoked from his own people he has been instilling into the British the same fanatical unity, the same aggressive determination, the same sense that there is something in their world supremely worth fighting for—which is very different from the passive spirit

Nazi Air Raids
Do Little Harm

LONDON (CP)—Nazi planes bombed England, Scotland and Wales this morning in a continuation of raids.

The attacks were met by intense defensive activity, both from fighter planes and anti-aircraft batteries.

The German planes apparently struck their heaviest blows in northeast Scotland, where incendiary bombs in heavily-populated areas started a number of fires.

Many bombs fell on a large school, which was unoccupied at the time. The building was set afire.

Other incendiary bombs fell on apartment houses, but tenants tackled the bombs with shovels and pails of sand and quickly extinguished the flames.

Auxiliary fire services stemmed other blazes.

DAMAGE LIGHT
A communique from the Air Ministry and the Ministry of Home Security announced "no serious damage or casualties" from any of the bombings, with injury to only one person reported.

A subsequent communique said: "Enemy activity over Great Britain last night was on a smaller scale."

"A few bombs were dropped in South Wales and near the east coast, but nothing of any importance was achieved."

The only casualty reported is one person slightly hurt."

NAZIS LOSE PLANE

It was learned one of the Nazi raiders crashed into the sea off the northeast English coast. The crew of four was brought ashore, where one wounded man was taken to a hospital and the other three taken into custody.

Two persons were reported killed and eight injured in German raids Saturday night.

Today's bombings were the 10th by Nazi warplanes in the last 13 days.

DRIVEN OFF SATURDAY

German raiders which flew into Britain's skies Saturday night scattered bombs along the south and east coasts and in the east Midlands, damaging an infirmary and killing two persons and injuring eight, but failing to deliver a heavy attack because of British fighter activity.

A joint Air and Home Security ministries bulletin said that "our fighter patrols were active and the enemy was nowhere able to deliver a heavy attack."

It said that one town in Scotland was attacked with high explosives and incendiary bombs, but neither damage nor casualties were reported.

In one Midland town the infirmary was damaged and casualties were caused by bombs which fell in the residential quarter.

BOY KILLED

The operating room of the infirmary was wrecked. In this town a 10-year-old boy was killed and a man died of shock, while in which the Allied peoples originally went down into the war."

several persons were injured. Although high explosive bombs fell on land in the Bristol Channel area, there were no casualties and no material damage.

In southwestern England half a dozen bombs fell in the centre of one town, blocked a road and damaged a wide area, but inflicted no casualties.

Twenty-four bombs hit villages in southeastern England far removed from any industrial centre, but caused only broken windows and deep pits in cornfields and pastures.

British Civilians Leave Hongkong

HONGKONG (AP)—A grey-coated liner, carrying the vanguard of some 4,500 British women and children being removed from this colony, nosed out of Hongkong harbor this afternoon.

Other outgoing ships also were jammed.

The United States liner President Coolidge remained here on orders from Washington and Americans were prepared for the possible necessity of removing their women and children.

Authoritative sources said the removal of the British was a precaution against possible Japanese enforcement of a land and sea blockade of the colony to under score demands for the closing of the Burma route to China for war supplies.

The removal of British women and children this week was ordered last Saturday in preparation for the threatened crisis with Japan. Netherlands officials followed the British example with preparations to send 150 Dutch women to the Netherlands East Indies. The Japanese, authoritative sources said, have not planned on removing their nationals.

A spokesman for the Japanese army in South China meanwhile charged information given under a November, 1938, agreement to notify the British 24 hours in advance of operations on the Hongkong border had leaked out to the Chinese.

As a result, he said, the Japanese in the future would not give the advance notice.

Nazi Radio Unmasked

LONDON (CP)—The Ministry of Information warned Britons today to disregard the advice of a "self-styled new British Broadcasting Company which is a German short-wave station operating from Germany" to flee their homes in the event of bombardment.

"This advice is directly opposite to the government's direction to civilians to 'stay put,'" the ministry said.

French Losses 1,500,000 Men

Correspondent Tells Why France Collapsed

Taylor Henry, who has sent the following dispatch, was accredited Associated Press correspondent with the French army during recent historic weeks. He survived German bombing raids, flew over the German lines with a French bombing squadron, saw the retreat of the French forces, and has arrived at the Spanish border.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP)—French casualties in the disastrous final month of the war with Germany were estimated unofficially today at 1,500,000 men, most of them listed as dead or missing.

It took Hitler's mechanized army approximately one month to destroy what 60 days ago still was described as the most efficient military machine in the world—the French army—and to overrun and occupy in its blitzkrieg more than half of France.

When France decided on June 12 to plead for an armistice the situation was so desperate, it is reliably reported, that Gen. Weygand told the historic midnight meeting of the French cabinet in a chateau near Tours that the French army had only cartridges enough to last three more days.

JUST SLAUGHTER

French ministers who had watched the army melt away along the line of the Somme and Aisne rivers wept as the generalissimo described how the Germans advanced, "slaughtering men who no longer have the means to defend themselves."

The full collapse of France as a military power is just beginning to be realized in France itself. The destruction of the army left the nation stunned.

French leaders, including Marshal Henri Petain, whose tragic task it was to sue for peace, now say the collapse of the army was due to three causes: lack of equipment, lack of manpower and lack of determination.

The lack of equipment, which is

LONDON (CP)—The British submarine Grampus is overdue and presumed to be lost, according to an Admiralty announcement.

The statement gave no details of the Grampus' assignment. She was a craft of the Porpoise minelayer class with a normal complement of 55 men and was completed in 1937. The commander was Lieut-Comdr. C. A. Rowe.

(According to Jane's Fighting Ships, the Grampus was one of

SERVICE MARKS DOMINION DAY

LONDON (CP)—Canada's anniversary of Confederation today was not given the customary celebration by Canadians in London due to the war.

The banquet usually given by the Canadian Club to all Canadians in London was canceled and the only official recognition given the day was a special afternoon service in Westminster Abbey.

Rt. Rev. Paul de Labilliere, Dean of Westminster, preached the sermon and Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, slipped away from Canada House long enough to read the lesson.

Canada House, the centre of Canadian activities in London, remained open.

2 MEN, 4 CHILDREN DROWN IN ALBERTA

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (CP)—Eugene Shepler, 48, his four children and hired man, Fred Osmond, drowned in Fish Lake yesterday while Mrs. Shepler helplessly watched from the wind-swept shore.

Shepler, one of the first homesteaders in the Millerville district, had gone to the lake, 30 miles east of here, with his family for a picnic.

Osmond and the four children—three of school age and the youngest four years old—climbed on a raft in shallow water to lie in the sun.

A high wind drove the raft into deep water. Shepler took a rowboat and reached the raft. He helped the children and Osmond into the boat, but it took water and sank.

None of the six was able to swim as Mrs. Shepler stood helplessly on the shore they sank to their death. Royal Canadian Mounted Police today carried out dragging operations to recover the bodies.

Shepler was born in Lewiston, Idaho, where he leaves a brother and two sisters.

FIVE LOSE LIVES

DEER RIVER, Minn. (AP)—Five Indian girls—three on their sisters—drowned yesterday in Little Winnibigoshish Lake, 15 miles northwest of here, when their rowboat capsized near shore.

The victims were Selman Lyons, 15; Lucille Sherman, six; Delores Fairbanks, 13; Violet Fairbanks, eight, and Marian Fairbanks, six.

British Defend Covenant of God

TORONTO (CP)—Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen, Anglican Primate of All Canada, said yesterday in a message sent to the clergy of Toronto diocese and the bishops of the western dioceses that freedom of man is part of the primitive covenant of God and that is why the people of Britain "can humbly renew their confidence in the cause for which they fight."

"Whatever else this fight means, it is a fight for human freedom against another theory of life," the message stated in part. "We turn to Him in this hour of conflict and offer Him all that we have."

Whatever setback there may be, there still is hope for free men and women—Mayor Fiorenzo LaGuardia of New York.

Meyer Salary $688,000 in Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nineteen of the 25 highest corporation salaries paid in the United States in 1938 went to movie stars and executives according to the federal treasury. A $688,369 salary to Louis B. Meyer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures, topped them all.

The rankings appear in a treasury list, supplementing an earlier list issued in January, of all corporation salaries in excess of $75,000.

Actress Claudette Colbert topped four of the six businessmen and Shirley Temple shaded William S. Knudsen, who in 1938 was president of General Motors but now is working without salary for the National Defence Commission.

Here are the 25 highest compensations reported by the treasury—counting only salary, bonuses, commissions and fees during 1938 or fiscal years including part of 1938, but not dividends, interest and other income—in order:

Louis B. Meyer, $688,369; E. A. Countway, president Lever Brothers Company (soap manufacturers), $469,713; Thomas J. Watson, president International Business Machines Corporation, $453,440; Claudette Colbert, $426,944; Bing Crosby, $410,000; Irene Dunne, $405,222; Eugene G. Grace, president Bethlehem Steel Corporation, $378,888; Charles Boyer, $375,277; Wallace Beery, $355,000; Cary Grant, $340,625; George W. Hill, president American Tobacco Company, $331,348; Hunt Stromberg, film producer, $328,817; Shirley Temple, $307,014; Joan Crawford, $305,384; William S. Knudsen, president General Motors Corporation, $303,400; Mervyn Leroy, film director, $300,000; Norma Shearer, $300,000; Frank Capra, film director, $294,166; Warner Baxter, $279,807; Edward C. Stone, United States Manager Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation Ltd., $277,185; Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's Inc. and M-G-M, $275,673; Clark Gable, $272,000; Greta Garbo, $270,000; Fred Astaire, $266,837; and Darryl L. Zanuck, film producer, $265,000.

Meyer, who led the country for the second year, got only about half of his 1937 total of $1,161,753.

Shirley Temple's huge salary, which may help explain her recent "retirement" at the age of 11, was nearly double her nearest child.

Italy's Share of Two-week War

Map above illustrates salient features of Italian-French armistice. Italy will occupy French territory her armies now hold, will get full rights in important Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway. All French Italian colonial borders in Africa are to be demilitarized.

11 VIOLENT DEATHS IN ONTARIO

TORONTO (CP)—Violent deaths in Ontario during the first two days of the long Dominion Day week-end totaled 11, six of them being traffic fatalities. Three persons were drowned and two others were electrocuted.

Daniel O'Neill, 26, and Wilbur Ritchie, 36, were killed Saturday near Pakenham, 50 miles northwest of Toronto, when they came in contact with an electrically-charged highway fence.

There were two automobile deaths in the St. Thomas district. Aircraftman John Leonard Guadet, 25-year-old member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding left the highway and crashed into a tree near the St. Thomas air training centre. The driver, Aircraftman Hector Villeneuve, escaped unhurt.

Alan Edwin Vosburg, 32-year-old resident of Detroit, died Saturday from injuries suffered when he lost control of his car on a hill outside of Wallacestown, near St. Thomas. Three others in the car with him were injured slightly.

At Kirkland Lake, William Fortune, 36-year-old war veteran, was killed yesterday when an automobile hit him.

W. B. Laur, 61-year-old accountant for the Chesterville Larder Lake Mining Company, was drowned while fishing in the lake. He formerly was a resident of Port Erie, Ont.

William Lick, 33, of Campbellford was drowned in the Bay of Quinte when he attempted to save a dog which had jumped from his yacht. He became exhausted before he could reach his boat.

Desmond Johnston, 25, of Toronto, lost his life while sailing on Lake Simcoe yesterday.

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States Secretary of Agriculture, Henry Wallace, urged yesterday that American republics "unify their economic power," possibly by formation of "one great inter-American corporation," he said.

"Unless we prevent Hitler's 'divide and conquer' strategy from succeeding in this hemisphere, both the United States and our sister republics will be in grave danger," he declared.

Wallace, speaking from Washington as part of a University of Chicago round table broadcast here, advocated "getting ready to meet a united Europe with a united new world."

"Once more," he declared, "we must hang together or surely we shall hang separately."

"In saying all this I recognize that England has a chance ultimately to win. But even in such a case it will be essential for the Americans to present a united front in re-establishing world trade on a sensible basis, so the 'unity of Europe' can be felt without ruining the new world."

Dr. A. J. Douglas Dies in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. A. J. Douglas, 66, head of the public health department here for 40 years, died last night in a hospital where he had been taken for treatment of a head injury after falling downstairs in his home Friday.

A graduate of the University of Manitoba, Dr. Douglas was a fellow of the Royal College of Physicians and a member of the Manitoba Medical Association. While head of the health department, he was credited with initiating a number of important services, including free vaccination for children, diphtheria immunization clinics and baby milk depots.

Scarlet fever, typhoid fever and tuberculosis were lessened by his campaigns to introduce rigid inspection of cows and compulsory pasteurization.

C.C.F. TO CONTEST MACKENZIE SEAT

VANCOUVER (CP)—A formal announcement that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation will contest the Mackenzie by-election for the seat left vacant by the death of John M. Bryan, Liberal, last May 7, was made following the two-day meeting of the provincial council here at the week-end.

The council meeting, attended by 30 members from throughout the province, also urged government action at Ottawa on behalf of British Columbia sockeye salmon fishermen, "to establish satisfactory prices." The sockeye season opened yesterday after fishermen's unions had protested price announcements by canners, claiming them to be too low.

In addition the council asked federal subsidization of exportable farm produce, on a basis of average export prices and volume of the last four years.

Another resolution called for changes in the War Measures Act, which the council claimed prohibited families of persons arrested under the act from visiting those arrested. The resolution also asked that provision be made for maintenance of families of those arrested.

Spots in Eye Key to Pregnancy

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman's eye shows whether she is pregnant.

The discovery that the scotometer, an optical instrument, will diagnose pregnancy was made at Long Island College of Medicine, which is exhibiting numerous physical conditions that can be detected in the human eye. How early pregnancy can be seen in the eye the investigations have not revealed.

The signs are detected in the blind spots in the human eye and the fact that some of them change during pregnancy is the telltale.

Plywood is being made into wall panels as large as 8 by 20 feet.

MONDAY, JULY 1, 1940

Our Birthday

SEVENTY-THREE YEARS IN THE LIFE of a nation is but an infinitesimal span of time. But we in Canada on this anniversary of our birth as a united people may be pardoned if we feel a sense of pride in our achievements since the Act of Confederation gave us our charter. What would some of the architects of our way of life think of the state of the world if they could come back on this July 1, 1940, and take a peep at its condition? Their work was sound. And if it was not given to them, as it could not be, to fashion their draughtsmanship so that it would comprehend and prepare for the revolutions in men's minds that were destined to transform the universal scene beyond recognition, it was not their fault. They were men of vision—men imbued with a conception of human relationships in this New World who drew their inspiration from a burning desire to give to generations of Canadians then unborn an opportunity to work out their destiny in their own way. And many of them lived to see the realization of much of that which they envisioned.

But if the Canadian scene, today, the transformation brought about by the "senseless ambitions" of one man, could be revealed to the Fathers of Confederation, they would not be denied their sense of satisfaction as they contemplated the fruits of their pioneer labors. They would see a virile nation, the nation they had in mind when they looked into the future 73 years ago, a nation which has grown up, which has followed the pursuits of peace and built well—a nation which also has adjusted itself magnificently to the demands of nationhood in the fullest sense of the term. True, this comparatively temporary interlude of unfortunate negation this shouldering of responsibilities which a more liberal acceptance of our New World philosophy might have rendered unnecessary, will exact much from our people. But they will come through as the Fathers of Confederation would have them come through. That is our comfort on this day.

Voice of the Past

FORMER PREMIER CHAMBERLAIN'S broadcast yesterday—mainly to assure the United States that rumors of dissension in the British cabinet are fantastic—leads the London Evening News to suggest that "perhaps it is wise to remind the people of America that we are not governed by Marshal Petains." But the well-known and widely-read daily hints that the address "told us nothing we did not know or could not guess for ourselves."

The suggestion of the former government leader, that German invaders "may manage here and there to make a break through," obviously annoyed the Daily Mirror—circulation 2,000,000—for it describes the speech this morning as "a voice broadcasting out of the dreamy past." And the popular journal concluded with the demand: "In God's name, go!" Noting that it finally exploded any talk of a negotiated peace, the New York Herald-Tribune today says editorially that "one can believe that in this case Mr. Chamberlain—even Mr. Chamberlain—means exactly what he says if only because it is now impossible that any Briton, of whatever class or politics, could mean anything else."

But Lord Strabolgi, better known as Commander Kenworthy with a distinguished career in the Royal Navy and as an author, has again used the British press to suggest to the public that Mr. Chamberlain ought to go the Labor peer's latest letter objecting that the former Premier "had found it necessary to give an interview to the American press denying that he is in favor of asking Germany for peace negotiations." Commander Kenworthy, therefore, wants to retort to Mr. Chamberlain, Viscount Halifax, and Sir Samuel Hoare—British ambassador to Spain—because "it would be the greatest service they could do their country and its cause if they would retire."

Many prominent United States journals still refer to "the English Tories" in terms which, no matter how much or little they may conform to the proprieties, convey the impression to a not inconsiderable element in the neighboring republic that Mr. Churchill will find it difficult to get done what he wants to do so long as some of the "old guard" of appeasement days are still in the councils of government.

Cocktails in Spain

FROM MADRID ON SATURDAY CAME the following dispatch: "Sir Samuel Hoare, the British Ambassador, gave a cocktail party here yesterday afternoon for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor."

Those Britons who are spending some part of every night in the bowels of the earth to escape Nazi bombs no doubt will be thrilled to know that one of the "appeasing" ministers of the former Chamberlain cabinet is able to dispense "good cheer."

And speaking of Spain, Marshal Petain served as first French ambassador to the country over which Hitler-Mussolini-sponsored Fascist General Francisco Franco holds sway. There must be something in the air of the sunny Spanish capital which dulls the finer instincts.

Both in the Way?

MUSSOLINI HAS ORDERED SUITABLE mourning for the memory of Air Marshal Italo Balbo. Hitler last September issued an order of the day honoring the memory of Colonel-General Werner von Fritsch.

Balbo strongly opposed Il Duce's policy toward Great Britain and objected to Italy's subservience to the German Reich. He was popular with the Italian people; his work in the air had established him as one of the great airmen of the times. So Mussolini "buried" him in North Africa as Governor-General of Libya. He died in an airplane "accident" near Tobruk last Friday; it was not in combat with the British as at first reported. Civilian administrators were with him; they met the same fate.

Von Fritsch was a former Commander-in-Chief and "the idol of the army." Much was made of his death "in battle at Warsaw." But Von Fritsch had previously fallen out with Hitler. He was relieved of his command in the general military "reorganization" after the Anschluss of Austria. Then Adolf "restored" him to some semblance of his former position by giving him honorary command of an artillery unit "in recognition of great service in the rebuilding of the Third Reich." Just what he was doing in an exposed position at the battle of Warsaw was never explained, and, presumably, never will be. Balbo was too popular for Mussolini's liking. He was anti-German and pro-British. Von Fritsch was succeeded by Colonel General Walther von Brauchitsch; he remained the "idol of the army"—and a nuisance to those with higher authority.

Uncle Sam Roused

ONE OF THE MOST STRIKING REACTIONS to President Roosevelt's rearmament program is the wholehearted support of which he has been assured from every side, from every shade of political thought, and from representative leaders in all parts of the country. From week to week, of course, the bitter lesson Europe is learning has been driven home to our neighbor. Not that those willing to recognize fundamentals were ever blind to the inevitability of the Hitlerian plan; but when Nazi soldiers marched through Denmark and followed it with the invasion of the Low Countries, all thinking people of the United States began to rub their eyes a new and wonder what might come next. For it is now patent to the most implacable isolationist that his concept of what his country's foreign policy should be must henceforth—or, at least, so long as the result of the war in his mind shall remain in doubt—be subject to such plans as Hitler may deem essential to impress the world with his intention to try to dominate everybody.

One commentator of a widely-read syndicated service which never liked the idea of anything approaching co-operation with Europe, either in the cause of peace by collective guarantees or other means which might run counter to the sacred gospel of "no foreign entanglements," has changed his tune in the last few weeks. He now says: "We must rearm. That means a reduction in our standards of living. It will touch every man, woman and child in the country. To fail to recognize this truth and face it squarely is to weaken the armament effort itself. How did Germany succeed in building its uncanny effective military machine? By sacrifice. By guns instead of butter. By putting half of everything the German people produced into the building of the machine, and making them live on the rest and like it. Because the United States is richer, that is, has more productive facilities, it ought not to be necessary for us to go that far. But the principle is the same—it is all a matter of degree."

It may be too extravagant to say that in the foregoing is a reflection of the opinion of the great majority of the people of the United States in the light of what has transpired since the Nazi juggernaut rolled over the Luxembourg and Dutch and Belgian borders. Nor does it mean that our neighbor must necessarily, and before long, actively enter the war on the side of Britain. But the sentiment crystallized in the quotation we have reprinted already is being translated into bad news for Hitler under circumstances on which it is not necessary to dwell. When the American people are aroused they have the capacity for doing things in a big way.

Whatever happens, proud people who survive will never forgive men who made them hide in dark holes to escape death.

Best way to combat parachute troops, as now practiced in this country and abroad, is to get the drop on them before they drop on you.

AS FOR AN INVASION OF BRITAIN

From Hamilton Spectator

As for the invasion of Britain by German infantry units, Mr. Churchill promises that they will be "drowned in the sea or blown to pieces while trying to land." It is no idle boast. Here is the opinion of Mr. Hessel Tiltman, writing in the New Republic, as to what would happen to Nazi troops trying to invade the Motherland. Any who might get ashore, he says—and there would be some, though at a fearful cost in life to their comrades—"will find themselves trapped between shore and sea forces, with bombers power-diving overhead. The weight of metal which could be concentrated at a given spot in such conditions would decimate and pulverize the invaders, unless the German air force could succeed them." He thinks any parachutists who may attempt to land and do their dirty work of sabotage will be effectively squelched by the effective counter-measures organized by the British authorities.

Parallel Thoughts

For the poor always ye have with you; but ye have not always. John 12:8.
Few save the poor feel for the poor. L. E. Landon.

Bruce Hutchison

THIS CANADA

OUR CANADIAN ECONOMY, built for the needs of peace, built to feed people instead of killing them, is growing under the strain of a complete reorganization to meet the needs of war. And as a significant debate in the House of Commons last week clearly indicated, the government now faces new decisions of vast importance.

It must do something about wheat and about other gluts of foodstuffs, at a time when half the world is facing starvation.

It must do something about our shortage of men who can make war materials.

Both are problems to appal any government.

The shortage of mechanics will be solved by a large program of training.

MOBILIZING MEN

THE GOVERNMENT is working now on plans to mobilize young men all over the country in machine shops where as apprentices they will be taught to use tools, to make planes, shells, rifles, guns, tanks and the other materials of war needed by Britain.

A commission representative of employers and workers will be named shortly to supervise this first phase of industrial mobilization under the Conscription Act.

Actually no conscription is needed here, for there are thousands of young men eager to get into war production.

The only problem in this connection is to persuade these youngsters that they are needed in factories as well as in trenches. That Britain requires not only infantry in its life-and-death struggle, but supplies and weapons.

At the same time the government must devise means of producing the designing tools that will make the tools of war.

These machine tools are our worst shortage and we must start almost from the beginning to build them by mobilizing every machine shop in the nation.

The government is working out plans for this mobilization now and will announce them shortly.

GLUT VS. FAMINE

BUT THE WHEAT problem is not so easily solved.

Our Canadian economic system is writhing and suffocating in an abundance of the thing which men need to keep alive.

And at the same time Europe is heading into universal famine, probably the starvation of millions of people.

Because we must win the war we shall ship no more wheat, no more food of any sort to any part of the continent of Europe until the war is over.

The world will shortly present the appalling but inevitable spectacle of this continent unable even to store its surplus foodstuffs—while all Europe, except Britain, is going without food.

'ENEMY COUNTRY'

There is nothing the Canadian government can do about that.

France, having chosen to submit to Germany, it must be regarded for blockade purposes as an enemy.

Its people will suffer along with the Germans, and probably more, because Germany will take all available food it can get for its own population, and the more efficient the blockade the worse the plight of the Canadian farmer.

YOUR CANADA'S A MAPLE

By DONALD A. FRASER

Your Canada's a maple,
So stately, noble, fair;
It burgeons and it blossoms
In beauty's special care;
'Neath northern skies no other
Can match its queenly air!

The roots are firmly fastened
Within a friendly soil;
They hold it firm, undaunted,
Though tempests clash and broil;
Serene it stands the onset,
And waits the foe's recoil!

The sturdy trunk uprises
In honor 'mid its peers;
It bears the graceful branches
In strength to scorn the years.
And lush and green the leafage
A glory rich appears!

In spring it flaunts the flowers.
Like banners thrusting out;
The busy bees soon find it;
Then throngs of humming workers
Quick gird the tree about!

To serve its sum of sweetness,
The tree exerts its powers;
Rich syrup from the sap-flow:
Sweet honey from the flowers.
And thus it keeps bestowing
This daintiest of favors!

Then mid the browns of autumn,
The cool, brisk breezes play!
Oh, see the keys go whirling
On fairy wings away,
That other little maples
May strive to birth some day!

But ever the birds come flying,
Each seeking for a home;
They build their nests in safety;
They need no farther roam;
A chorus of contentment
Swells high to heaven's dome!

So every young Canadian,
Should grow up clean and good,
And fair and brave and useful,
As true Canadians should;
Just like a grove of Maples,
A sunlit, happy brood!

The big thing in any defence program is to have behind the armed force a united nation, an efficiently functioning industry, and a healthy agriculture. Alf M. Landon, 1936 U.S. Republican presidential candidate.

"CANADA PLEASE"

I KNOW OF NO more direct challenge for service on the home front, and service now, than that implied in the two words which appear at the head of this article. For those two words "Canada Please" were not coined by any high-pressure advertising expert. They were not devised by any government publicity man, or political propagandist. They sprang from the very hearts of British fathers and mothers who applied to have their children sent overseas to a place of safety for the duration of this war.

In the first day that the overseas evacuation offices were open in England nearly 60,000 persons were listed for transfer as soon as possible. And with the politeness that is characteristic of the British people, the vast majority of the applications bore in handwriting across the printed form "Canada Please."

Those words were of course intended for the British officials. But in a larger sense they are addressed to us. For now as never before it is a case of "Canada Please." It is not only a case of helping in a program which will eventually fit into Canadian life a very large number of newcomers who will help to make this country what it should be. It is much simpler than that. It is a case of offering shelter to helpless human beings who will otherwise be subject to the same mass murder practices which broke the spirit of France at the front while the traitors were busy in the rear.

It used to be said of us Canadians that we were a simple, rough-and-ready people, not too polished nor overly polite, but sincerely hospitable. In the pioneer days one thing was certain. Any real family would go through "hell and high water" to help other human beings in distress. Particularly children.

Now is the time to demonstrate that we have lost none of that quality.

NO TIME TO QUIBBLE

IT IS OBVIOUS that the human stream is going to begin pouring into Canada before our government has its plans all ready.

New Weapons, New Tactics

WEYGAND DID THE BEST he could for a week or two against impossible odds, but when Germany's armored divisions, totaling 12 as against the Allies, nine, broke through to the channel coast, cutting the Allied armies in two, the outcome of the fighting on land promised to be favorable to Hitler's generals. In the battle of Flanders that followed, two French armies were destroyed, the B.E.F. lost all its equipment, and, according to the Toronto Star, the enemy's superiority in armored divisions increased to something like 19 to three. This was decisive, as ordinary infantry and artillery cannot stand up to the tremendous fire power of mechanized forces.

This was made plain in the war against Poland. Since then the Germans have tremendously increased the fire power of their armored divisions. Before mid-summer in 1918 the truth had become reasonably plain that the offensive had got the better of the defensive in warfare, but Colonel Repington, the London Times military critic, denied that truth on August 27 of that year, and Frank Simonds, the most eminent U.S. war critic, expressed a similar view on August 27, to both of which the War Review of that day took strong exception. Incredible as it seems, the defensive cult gained increasing support in the military headquarters of the democracies between 1918 and 1939, in spite of the obvious lessons of the World War, and the annihilative power given to the offensive by modern weapons. This needs to be said now as a duty owed to the Allied cause, because if the British Commonwealth and free peoples are to save themselves and the world from Nazi tyranny they must learn to put their reliance in machines rather than in man. Tanks of all sizes, fighter-bombers and army co-operation planes, anti-tank units operating with tanks and throwing grenades against enemy infantry, all these and more must be produced in enormous quantities and new defensive measures prepared against such in enemy hands.

We should recognize that the enemy, giving himself unreservedly to the detestable business of waging war while a peaceful world went on with its task of improving the lot of common humanity, can teach us many lessons about lethal weapons and the most effective use of them. It would be madness not to learn his military secrets and strive to beat him at his own game. Even Germany is changing and improving the technique of mechanized warfare as the war progresses, devising new combinations and tactics, although she had leaped only too much about them in her trial war on Spanish territory.

'Gentle Heinrich' Himmler

Condensed by Readers Digest from an Article in Current History by Frederic S. Sanders, Jr., with Albert Grosshans, formerly Chief of Germany's Secret Police.

AMONG the Fuehrer's satraps, Heinrich Himmler, leader of the Fuehrer's private army and creator of the greatest police system in history, has always been inconspicuous. Now 40, he looks like a provincial German schoolmaster. He is, below medium height, and his sharp features, with receding chin and prim pince-nez, makes his steel helmet and natty black uniform look slightly silly.

Fifteen years ago, members of the Nazi inner circle were sitting in a Munich beer hall listening to Hitler's right-hand man, Gregor Strasser, expound National Socialism virtues. "Now take my secretary, our gentle Heinrich here," Strasser said, putting his hand on Himmler's shoulder. "Wonderful brain for organization. But he'll never go far in the movement. He's too mild. He thinks and looks like a little bookkeeper." Gentle Heinrich blinked owlishly behind his glasses, smiled his thin smile and, as usual, said nothing.

But on the night of the blood purge, June 30, 1934, Strasser and hundreds of other keymen in the S.A.—the brown-shirted Storm Troops—discovered how wrong they had been, when, without warning Himmler's black-coated henchmen shot them down. The S.A. had become not only an embarrassment but a danger to Hitler. It comprised 1,200,000 men, poorly disciplined, unreliable. Their ambitious leader, Ernst Roehm, had become increasingly insistent on a "real revolution" which would bring his proletarians to power. It was Himmler's secret police who "discovered" Roehm's "plot" to overthrow Hitler; it was Himmler's men who in one terrifying night of killings broke the back of the S.A. After that, Hitler made Himmler police chief of the entire Reich.

AS HEAD of the Schutzstaffel, the elite guard of the party, Himmler has 450,000 heavily armed, completely motorized, fanatically loyal troops—the pick of Germany's youth—under his absolute command.

The S.S., as it is called, originally formed the bodyguard of Hitler and his satraps, guarded the concentration camps, and put down any civil disturbance within the Reich. Himmler has now made it into an army, with tanks, artillery and air force of its own. It is the S.S. which has "consolidated" the regular army's gains in the invaded countries by means of mass executions and forced migrations unparalleled in European history. The role of the S.S. in Poland will probably go down as one of the blackest chapters of this century. Hundreds of thousands of men, women and children were dumped without sufficient clothing, food or shelter in the concentration areas to starve and die. Those guilty of resistance were hanged in the public squares on rolling gibbets, which were then towed through the streets for all to see. Gentle Heinrich had decided that the population was the best solution of the Polish problem.

WITHIN the "Old Reich," Himmler has for seven years blown up ever nucleus of discontent which might have become dangerous. As Inspector of the Gestapo, the secret police, Himmler may arrest and sentence to concentration camp or death at will. Many an unfortunate German has been dragged from his bed at 6 a.m., and by 6 p.m. been dead or on his way to concentration camp. Sometimes the cause is no more than a carelessly stated, "I think that the Gestapo's thousands of specially trained agents are supplied by a vast network of spies in every walk of life, who are paid well and promptly for their reports. The special telephone exchanges which tap all lines that interest the Gestapo also provide a large quota of death-dealing indiscretions. Himmler himself frequently questions prisoners, and then the real nature of Strasser's 'little bookkeeper' reveals itself. His voice rises to a shrill scream, the blinking, watery eyes become venomous, and even the strongest quail before his savage gestures.

THE concentration camps to which almost a million Germans have been shipped in the past seven years are run by the Death's Head Brigade, a special section of the S.S. The barbarous brutality practiced in the camps which has so shocked the world is explained by the fact that the most cruel degenerates to be found are selected as guards for these institutions. A very special development of Himmler's, of which he is extremely proud, is UAI, the foreign division of the Gestapo. Its 5,000 agents abroad keep track of Germans outside the Reich, watch all connections between Reich citizens and the outer world, and organize the corruption and sabotage of foreign governments. In Austria and Czechoslovakia, its agents worked comfortably, months in advance, from German consulates and "travel agencies." In both these countries all important anti-Nazis were under lock and key within 24 hours after their governments fell. In Poland the defending army's communication system was completely disrupted. In Norway, UAI parlayed effective resistance with coups that startled the world. The "fifth column" has gained an important niche in military strategy. Himmler's UAI put it there.

IN THE early days, Nazi meetings were frequently broken up by a hail of Communist brickbats. Hitler conceived the idea of organizing a special group of strong-arm men outfitted with heavy canes—a protective corps or Schutzstaffel. Himmler joined, primarily to be near the Fuehrer whenever he spoke, and with methodical thoroughness made this corps a vote-getting machine second to none.

By 1929, when Himmler became commander of the Schutzstaffel, he had 100,000 well-trained men, completely loyal to Hitler and himself. And when he became a member of the Reichstag the following year, he had every important anti-Nazi shadowed by his S.S. men, and compiled the proscription lists which were executed with such dispatch on the night of the Reichstag fire, some three years later. The efficiency with which the Weimar Republic was unseated, thousands arrested, and police stations all over the Reich occupied by the S.S. was perhaps the outstanding revolutionary feat in history.

Himmler has collected dossiers on the weaknesses and "irregularities" of even the highest of the party. With these he has killed or fought to a standstill anyone who has stood in his way.

Rumania Carved

Russia last week presented an ultimatum to Rumania demanding the cession of Bessarabia and northern Bukovina and control over the ports of Constantza, Tulcea, Galati and Braila. King Carol, after conferring with his council, decided to yield. Seizing the opportunity, Bulgaria stepped in with a demand for the southern province of Dobruja, which she lost after the 1914-18 war, while Hungary moved on the northwest to enforce her demands for a share of the territorial spoils.

Sales and Gas Taxes Kept Till Next Time

By NORMAN MacLEOD

OTTAWA — Although government itself hasn't the remotest idea of what Canada's for the present, war ultimate will be, the Ralston budget based upon the principle of letting the people of the Dominion know the cost of the struggle as it proceeds.

In other words, it is a budget constructed around the principle of direct, as distinguished from indirect or "hidden" taxation. It is to be regarded, consequently, as the first phase of the government's war financial policy.

The second phase will be the one in which indirect or "hidden" taxation is employed.

HELD IN RESERVE

All the revenue devices that have been rumored in recent weeks in connection with the current fiscal program—notably a 10 per cent sales tax, an increase in gasoline, and other tax measures—have not been abandoned simply because they are not being adopted at the present moment.

They are simply being held in reserve until such time as the financial needs of the government require them. Just when that will be the government itself does not know, but it is altogether likely that a continuance of the struggle until another budget will bring them prominently into the picture.

Well-posted sources in the cabinet state that the Department of Finance has a program of direct taxation capable of yielding $200,000,000 annually ready for the time when it is needed. Its details are being kept a secret, as though it were an actualized budget in the offing. Its purpose is to maintain the maintenance of the policy announced by the government, namely, a "pay-as-you-go" policy, to the greatest extent practical, with a minimum of inflation.

TARIFF IDEA DISLIKED

The present budget is accepted rather than enthusiastically applauded, by the M.P.'s in the Commons. It is recognized in all quarters in the House as an effort to raise revenue that is urgently required for the nation's war effort, and the general disposition is to tolerate it on this account. It presents, however, undeniably unpopular features—even in the eyes of the government's supporters.

Its provision of a general 10 per cent import tax, for example, is looked upon by the Liberals with frank misgivings. This impost is expected to raise some $85,000,000—whereas the entire customs tariff during the last year returned only some $130,000,000. In other words, this tax constitutes a 50 per cent increase in the nation's protective duties, and makes the present tariff, particularly when the premium upon United States currency is considered, one of the highest in Canadian history. This is hard political medicine for the Liberals from the low-tariff prairies to swallow.

LIFE INSURANCE JEOPARDIZED

Among the Conservatives, the chief criticism is that the Finance Minister's taxation program fails to distribute the burden of the war equitably. It is pointed out that two great classes in the country will pay very little under the program that has been announced. They are the farmers and the great body of wage earners who are paid less than $25 per week. Furthermore, it is felt that the savings rates fixed in the personal income tax schedules are certain to react upon general business in the country, while a further criticism is that, so far as persons in the $2,000 to $5,000 brackets particularly are concerned, they burden a middle class in the citizenship whose living standard has not sufficient margin of flexibility to enable it to be adjusted to such drastic additional taxation.

It is contended by the Conservatives that such important items as life insurance savings in middle class budgets are almost certain to be threatened by the program the Finance Minister has submitted.

GOLD MINES AFFECTED

The most popular feature of the budget promises to be the changes that it proposes with respect to Canadian gold mines. For the first time it devises a policy of taxation towards them predicated upon a recognition of their importance in the national economy. The provision which will enable them to write off against taxation monies expended upon mine development or exploration is regarded as one that will contribute a major stimulus to the industry. Similar importance is attached to the scheme of basing a mine's excess profits upon any abnormally rich ore or abnormally favorable operating ratio that it may happen to experience, rather than upon any increase in its tonnage.

The gold tax legislation, it is further understood, is to contain another feature of major importance not yet revealed. That feature is a provision whereby mines that conceal their earnings in their reserves will be taxed more heavily than those that pay them out to their shareholders in dividends. The legislation, in other words, will constitute a powerful incentive to the mining companies to pay the maximum dividends consistent with their earnings.

The gold tax provisions, in short, are the most generally approved features of a budget which will escape opposition at least not on the grounds of the wide appeal it has scored, but rather for the reason that it attacks the tax which is tantamount to attacking the nation's war effort.

French Students Will Congregate

"Le Camp Francais," where the French language is taught, is likely to be a continuation of the struggle until another budget will bring them prominently into the picture.

Well-posted sources in the cabinet state that the Department of Finance has a program of direct taxation capable of yielding $200,000,000 annually ready for the time when it is needed. Its details are being kept a secret, as though it were an actualized budget in the offing. Its purpose is to maintain the maintenance of the policy announced by the government, namely, a "pay-as-you-go" policy, to the greatest extent practical, with a minimum of inflation.

The staff is composed of musicians, writers and others skilled in the arts. It includes Andre Gide, who took degrees in literature at the University of Paris, who has made professional tours in Europe and North America and has lectured at Barnard College, New York, will direct a number of French plays and give dramatic monologues.

Other outstanding members of the staff include Madame E. Anderson-Mongin, professor of French at Victoria College for many years; Paul K. Hartstall, assistant professor and director of the modern language phonetic laboratory, University of Iowa; and A. Minault, lecturer, University of Minnesota. Those who are interested in the French language and French literature and who would like to attend "Le Camp Francais," may direct inquiries to Miss Dorothy M. Punderson, Strathcona Lodge, Shawnigan Lake, B.C. Several dramatic evenings will be given during the season and actors are cordially invited to attend.

Combat Vivisection

The Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society will observe World Day which the Victoria society is sponsoring in October and formation is being sought to assist in war zones. The objects of this society stated, G. B. Ro at a meeting of the local body, are to uphold constitutional liberty, protect human beings and animals from exploitation and emphasize the value of moral and ethical standards in world where these are in danger of destruction.

Two Flower Shows At Victoria Fair

Two complete flower shows during the week will assure the Main Building of a fine display of colorful blossoms for the 79th annual Victoria Fair to be held by the B.C. Agricultural Association at the Willows from September 7 to 14 inclusive.

There will be the regular floral displays and competitions conducted by the fair officials and during the last half of the week the ninth annual show of the Victoria Dahlia Society.

The exhibition classes will include cut flowers of all varieties, plants, vases of flowers, group arrangements and decorated tables. In 84 classes provided in this section cash prizes amounting to $311 have been put up for competition.

The dahlia show will provide a complete change of flowers during the week and provide excellent competition in the various varieties of dahlias. For this show cash prizes amounting to $84 have been put up for competition. There will be open and novice classes and decorated table contests.

Entries for the floral department will be received up to September 4, and those exhibiting during the first half of the week must have their displays in place not later than noon on Saturday, September 7.

Minister Retiring

GANGES — Members of the congregation of Ganges United Church, the Ladies' Aid and other friends gathered at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Lawson last Wednesday afternoon to bid farewell to Rev. E. J. Thompson, who is retiring from active ministry after 43 years' service in England, the maritime provinces and British Columbia and for the past seven years on Salt Spring Island.

Mrs. J. D. Reid, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, presented Mr. Thompson with a pair of binoculars in handsome leather case. W. M. Mount read a farewell address from members of the church, which stressed the pleasant relationship existing between pastor and people during his term of ministry.

The Y.M.C.A. Camera Club's annual visit to the Dominion Experimental Farm was attended by 20 members and friends. Dr. W. Newton's lecture on the photographic possibilities in the biological field was informative. M. McArthur's flower study won the monthly competition. M. Bonz projected some 16 millimeter kodochrome shots of the King's visit. Refreshments were served and thanks were extended to Dr. Newton and staff for an enjoyable evening. The club picnic, annual picnic and possible lecture by Albert Price are dates that all members are asked to keep in mind.

Urgent Need for Hospital Wing

Emphasizing the need of increasing facilities from time to time, not only to meet present demands, but to take care of the future, are figures just released by the directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital regarding the number of major and minor operations performed at that institution during the past year. These figures demonstrate the necessity that exists for the directors to ask for public support toward the construction of the new wing.

Doctors of this city performed 576 major operations at the Royal Jubilee Hospital last year, and 1,408 minor operations.

This means that throughout the year a multitude of scientific appliances had to be brought into use to save lives and improve the condition of patients.

Such an accumulation of medical equipment and facilities, so necessary for the performing of that number of operations, could only be accomplished by a continuing effort throughout the years. It would be a financial impossibility to purchase and provide such accommodation in any one year.

Langford

Closing exercises were held at Langford School Wednesday. Pupils of Grade 1 and 2 gave recitations and songs under the direction of Mr. L. B. Smith. The senior room presented a novel description of "John Gilpin's Ride."

Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, school trustee, presented the prizes.

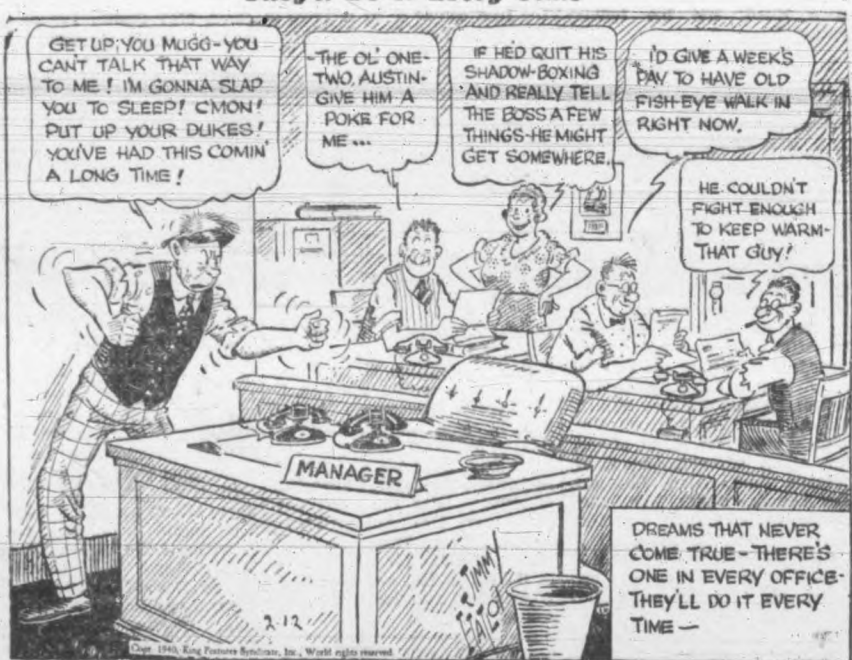

Langford-Colwood A.Y.P.A. held a beach party last week at Ocean Beach.

SCHOOL CLOSING

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — Shawnigan Lake public school held their summer closing exercises last Wednesday afternoon. H. P. Weber, chairman of the school board, introduced W. G. Gamble, inspector of schools, who addressed those present on educational matters. Mr. Weber presented the prizes and Mrs. G. G. Gray, president of the Shawnigan Lake Women's Institute, those on behalf of the Institute.

Indian Boy's Work Attracted Many

Evidence that the exhibition of paintings by Sis-huk, the young Indian artist, held last week at the Windermere Hotel, aroused very genuine interest is shown not only by the large number of daily visitors, amounting in all to upwards of 500, but by the satisfactory sale of half the exhibits. These included horses, full of action and vitality, studies of other animals, such as squirrels and skunks, mountain sheep and deer, and a variety of most attractive birds, including an eagle and wild geese, quail and blue birds.

The black and white illustrations prepared by Sis-huk for the forthcoming publication of the attractive and naive "Tale of the Nativity," were also on view. This "tale" was told to their teacher by the children on the Inkameep Reserve, near Oliver. It is on this reserve that this lad has spent his 19 years, among surroundings which have inspired the form.

British Women Toil Long Days Making Bombers

LONDON (CP)—Defiant, fingered, tireless young women work nearly 12 hours a day over the skeleton of a British bombing plane.

A visit to an aircraft factory where a giant machine soon will bear the name "Jamaica" on its fuselage provides a start-to-finish picture of the task of turning out one of these monsters for the Royal Air Force.

The "Jamaica," a veritable flying battleship, was built with £20,000 ($89,000), sent from Jamaica by the Kingston Daily Gleaner. Another one, built with money sent by the Straits Times, will be called the "Singapore," and there soon may be a whole colonial squadron.

The girls, who range in age from 16 to 25, still have permanent waves but their finger nails would horrify a manicurist. For they work unceasingly putting together ribs, riveting and assembling small parts. They toil seven days a week except for a two-day break every three weeks. This time schedule applies to every worker in the plant.

In that shed the bombers first begin to take shape. Making a bomber is like fitting together a gigantic jig-saw puzzle with thousands of hands to help. Draughtsmen, production experts and superintendents worked 14 to 15 hours daily to get this factory producing quickly. Now it's working to capacity.

Plans and materials ready, the work began while elsewhere engines, guns and bombs were under production to make the aircraft ready for action without a moment's delay. Sheets of aluminum, strips of stainless steel, blocks of rubber and sections of metal were fashioned into a mighty machine.

NO STANDING AROUND.

The workpeople themselves seemed to toll like robots. There was no talking, no standing around. One man did not stop working nor remove the cigarette from his mouth when asked what he thought of an 84-hour working week. He pointed to a notice in front of him. It said: "Back up our fighting forces."

Another said: "When I think what the men from Dunkerque said about where were our planes, I get an itch in my hands and that's the truth. What else can we do but work all we know?"

From the machine and press shops to the sub-assembly sheds and the shape of the bomber begins to appear. A bomber is sectionalized. If any one section is rejected another can replace it without undoing the work of the whole.

The fuselages are brought down to the assembly sheds. The job nears its end. Wheels bigger than a giant man are rolled out. The painters crawl over the aerial dreadnaught.

Creators of the "Jamaica" and others of her type are as proud as the Clydesider who builds great ships of the sea. They blush when praise is given their machine, mumble: "I think it will do."

That modest phrase can be taken as assurance no faulty planes will be handed over to the men of the R.A.F.

Tag Day for Children's Ward Netted $230

The sum of $230 was collected by the Daughters of Pity at their tag day Saturday for the children's ward of the Jubilee Hospital. Convened by the president, Miss Marjorie Siddall, the tag day employed about 50 collectors, including several children who had been patients at the hospital and some of the girls from the British Columbia Protestant Orphanage. The Melrose Company, 1108 Broad Street, lent space for headquarters, Miss C. Couves being in charge of this end of the work. Miss Alma Hill, the treasurer, assisted by Miss Lillian Smethurst, counted the contents of the cans after the last one was turned in shortly after 4. Proceeds of the tag day will be used for the children's ward.

Stayed in Paris To Finish Thesis

NEW YORK—One of the acute shortages to develop in Paris in the frantic days before its fall was in the matter of baggage. Food and other merchandise was obtainable, but as the invading horde drew nearer to a suitcase to be had. For weeks, in fact, the French expatriate lived in its baggage, ready for flight.

Dr. Mae Mathieu of Seattle, who has just arrived on the Washington, revealed this. She had stayed in Paris until that safe moment, to see her thesis for a doctorate in philosophy, that degree awarded before the Germans marched in, emerge on the presses in book form. She received it for a treatise on the life and work of Pierre Paterne, concerned with architecture at engraving in 18th Century France. When the first copy came from the bindery Dr. Mathieu said it and was on her way.

"Since the first of these shops shut down one after the other," Dr. Mathieu said, "huge department stores like the Galeries-Lafayette, the Louvre and the Printemps put up their shutters. There was practical no business, and all the male personnel was mobilized.

"This degree has been a time object of my life to date but now I can take little glory in it. Personal victories are less when the world is struggling to defend its honor and verities. And there's no fun when a person can't plan on anything. That's what happened to us in France."

A meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Air Services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 at the home of Mrs. J. O. Cameron, 1085 Moss Street. Materials and wools will be ready for distribution at this meeting for those desiring work.

Bethel No. 2, Order of Job's Daughters, will hold a garden party at the home of Mrs. H. Austin, 508 Williams Street, on Wednesday, commencing at 3. The affair will be opened by Mrs. Jeannette Florence, Grand Martha of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Frank Woodward Wins Derby

Fourteen-year-old Frank Woodward of Victoria, ran away with the Vancouver Island and city championships in his speedy No. 23 racer at the fourth annual Soap Box Derby-Saturday afternoon on Yates Street hill.

The derby, staged jointly by the Kinsmen Club and Colonist, attracted a large crowd which lined the hill along the 440-yard run from Camosun to Cook Streets.

The Kinsmen Boys' Band, under the direction of Alfred Prescott, provided music in between races.

Prior to the start of the derby, the band in elaborate red, green and gold uniforms, led a parade of the entries through town. It was the first march of the band in public and from the interest and enthusiasm shown by the hundreds in town, who lined the streets to watch the boys march past, it will be in great demand during the summer at public functions.

Saturday night the band gave a concert in front of the Parliament buildings at the presentation of prizes to the winners of the derby.

Major L. Bullock Webster presented the prizes.

Second to Frank Woodward in the island and city championships was Pete Holding in his snappy little car.

Raymond Fieldhouse was third in the city championship and Allan Tuck of Nanaimo, placed third in the island championships.

A third event was staged for boys who did not win a prize in the two championship races.

Francis Troup was first with John Gardiner second and Teddy Haven of Duncan, third.

Results of the heat races for the championship events follow:

City championship, first heat: 1, Frank Woodward; 2, Francis Troup. Second heat: 1, Pete Holding; 2, John Gardiner.

Island championship, first heat: 1, Frank Woodward; 2, Pete Holding; 3, Allan Tuck. Nanaimo. Second heat: 1, Raymond Fieldhouse; 2, Francis Troup; 3, Brian Good.

Inspector Walter Calwell acted as official starter. His assistants were Jack Philion and George F. Fatt and Joe McAllister. Finish line judges were Herb Sabiston, Vernon Ridgeway and Harold Bourne.

Young Whittingham has been with the Royal Air Force since February of last year. He went over from here to join the service.

Awards Given At St. Ann's

Commercial students of St. Ann's Academy received awards for their year's work at the annual closing ceremony last week in the assembly hall of the girls' institution.

Speakers at the ceremony congratulated the students on the high standards they had set during the year.

Reference was made, also, to the fine spirit the girls had shown in collecting enough funds to contribute two stretchers to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

With a view to aiding the Red Cross Society the girls decided to dispense with the annual tea party at the closing.

The list of special awards and passes follow: Silver cup for shorthand accuracy and speed record, offered by Rev. Mother Mary Mark, provincial superior, British Columbia: Merited by Miss Glenys Smedley for highest average in the secretarial course for students of matriculation scholarship; runner-up, Miss Phyllis Dowling of the same class. An award of a beautiful fountain pen desk set was provided by Rev. Sister Superior of the local school.

Agents Not Needed States Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Munitions Minister Howe has warned Canadian business against those making representations on the advisability of employing their services as agents in negotiations with the Department of Munitions and Supply.

Mr. Howe said: "I wish most emphatically to point out that no possible advantage can accrue to any concern so employing any such persons, and that the Department of Munitions and Supply, wherever it is possible to do so, deals directly with the supplier. Any prospective supplier desiring to have his name listed with the department has only to write to the department indicating the location of his plant, his manufacturing facilities and the type of supplies in which he

How Suede Is Made

The soft, even nap and silky texture of suede leather is produced by buffing the flesh side of the leather against a large, rounded emery wheel. The tough texture of the grain surface remains, so the strength of the leather is not impaired.

Today's Motor Tourists

Professor A. O. Hayes and Mrs. Hayes of New Brunswick, New Jersey, are vacationing on the Island for a week. Professor Hayes is teacher of geology at Rutgers University. While here he plans to climb various mountains "to continue my studies of the formation of the earth and to keep in shape," he said. "We cannot bring the earth to the university so we must go to the earth," he laughingly remarked.

Professor Hayes has been visiting British Columbia regularly since 1907. He was at one time geologist for the Dominion government. They are staying at the Victoria Auto Court, Gorge Road.

Awarded to Miss P. Dowling for application and success.

SPEECH DAY AT SHAWNIGAN SCHOOL

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—Speech day at Shawnigan Lake Boys' School on Saturday attracted a large turnout of parents and friends. Morning service was observed in the chapel where the Lord Bishop of Columbia gave an inspiring address. Dean Elliott of Victoria was in charge of the service, assisted by the Rev. E. J. Willis and Canon Hughes. The latter sports in charge of J. Piddington, assisted by the master, were run off in the early afternoon, and the gathering then adjourned to the gymnasium, where the presentation of prizes took place. C. W. Lonsdale, the headmaster, welcomed Sir Robert E. Holland, who presented the prizes. Mr. Lonsdale stated that 10 per cent of the ex-pupils and staff of the school had entered on active service, and that five of them had already paid the supreme sacrifice.

The speaker emphasized the point that parents discipline their children to a greater extent, also in spiritual teaching based on conduct and service to others.

The Lord Bishop of Columbia gave sound advice to the young men who, having finished their schooling, were going out into the world to think and act for themselves.

The board of governors on the speakers' platform were Lieut. Gen. Sir Percy Lake, Sir Richard Lake, Col. F. H. M. Slater, J. Y. Copeman, and Capt. Groves.

The following is the prize list: Form 7, Wilkinson; form 6, Rathay; upper fifth, Lausen; form 4, Wallis; remove A, MacDonald; remove E, Love; form 3, Ostermeyer; special prize for Latin, Steiwer; the Lord Bishop's prize for reading, Wilkinson; Rifle shooting, house shot, Groves; senior shot, McCleary; Junior shot, Ely.

The following were among the visitors attending: Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Baillie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. Ballantine, Mrs. Love (Calgary), Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Aland, Mrs. Kohl, Mrs. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rogan, Mr. and Mrs. Clerk, Mr. and Mrs. Isaacson, Mrs. Nichols, Dr. and Mrs. Scherwald (Seattle), Mr. and Mrs. Stokes, Mrs. Nanson, Mrs. Wilkie, Mrs. Tryon, Mrs. Chadwick, Canon Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Rattray, Capt. and Mrs. Ley, Mr. and Mrs. L. de Duke, Mrs. Ripley, Mrs. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Adair Dewar, Mrs. Johnson (Oregon), Mrs. Bize, Mrs. Fraser, Col. F. H. M. Slater and Miss Slater, Mrs. T. Barclay, Mrs. R. Jones (Oregon), Mrs. P. Mything (Oregon), Mrs. George More, Mr. and Mrs. Steiwer, Mrs. Bradford, Mrs. Kearns, Mrs. S. T. Victorian's Escape From Flanders

'Knew We Had a Chance When We Saw the Navy'

A Victorian with the Royal Air Force took part in the retreat from Flanders and evacuation of Dunkirk and escaped without injury.

He is William Whittingham, a wireless operator, and in a letter to his father, A. W. Whittingham, 2643 Cavendish Avenue, describes how he lost everything except what he was wearing.

"Back in England again after coastal port three or four nights ago (the letter was written on June 5) looking a sorry mess after three weeks of bully beef and biscuits and little or no sleep. We lost everything, arriving only in gumboots, trousers and jacket.

"I kept my overcoat right till Dunkirk, then I had to throw it away as we were told to the boat, for the only pier was under shell fire.

"My watch and paybook were in the pocket and as I had £14 to my credit I hope the records weren't lost in France. Still it's good to be back. I also lost my book of addresses. . . .

"I have got all new kit again, uniform, shoes, shirts, towels, etc., which makes me feel like a recruit again. . . .

"When Germany invaded Holland and Belgium we were at Lille in France, but we left straight away for Brussels, holding the Jerries back as long as we could.

"We got pushed from there right back to France in four stops, only to find the Germans were behind us as well as in front. So we made a dash for Nieuport to find the enemy had that, too. But when we saw the navy at Dunkirk we knew we had a good chance.

"As the beach was packed with soldiers we had to wait a whole day for our turn, while German dive bombers came over about every 15 minutes and the enemy long-range guns were just starting to reach the beach.

"We finally got on to our destroyers at 8 p.m. and at 10.30 once more in England."

"My pal and I arrived at a three hectic weeks of chasing back and forth through France and Belgium, ending up on the beach at Dunkirk," he opens his letter.

CLAIMING that the ball player who cleans the bases rates a higher batting average than one who barely beats out a bunt, George Sisler, former batting star, suggests in an article in a prominent weekly an entirely new system of rating offensive play which would give the batter credit for everything he accomplished.

"The start of a scoring system of this kind," he writes, "must be from the highest standard. Under my system, a home run with the bases filled is perfection. Since this is a perfect performance, all other offensive actions by a batter are relative to this."

"A base on balls with nobody on is actually worth the same as a single with nobody on. A single plus a steal of second is as important as a two-base hit. A single plus a steal of second and third is worth as much as a triple with nobody on. With men on second and third, a single scoring both is worth more than a single scoring nobody. In short, a batter's true worth is dependent not only on the length of his hits and his speed of foot but on the number of bases he has advanced his teammates."

"This system of rating is based on the fact that getting to first base is the most important thing of all. If the hitter doesn't get on, there is no chance for a rally and no chance to score a run. The old adage still holds: 'You can't steal first base.' After long investigation I have found that the following ratings are most equitable:

"I have rated first base 2 points; first to second 1½ points; second to third 1 point; third to home 1½ points. This may sound complicated but it really is very simple. A batter hitting a home run with the bases loaded would score 12 points, made up as follows: He gets compensation for the bases he makes, 5 points; he scores a man from third, 1½ points; he scores a man from second, 2½ points; he scores a man from first (1½ plus 1 plus 1½) 3 points. Total, 12 points.

"The base runner gets extra points when he achieves an extra base through his own efforts. In the case of the home run with the bases filled he would get no extra credits because the cause of that success would be due to the hitting exclusively. However, if a runner on first goes to third on a single he is given credit for one extra point. His advance to second would be caused by the hit but his progress to third would be his own achievement.

"Likewise a batter who sacrifices with runners on first and second gets ½ point credit for advancing one man to second and 1 point for advancing one man to third, or 1½ points. A batter who hits a long fly and scores a runner from third, or advances a runner to another base gets credit for each advance, although he gets no direct credit for his own hitting since he did not reach first.

"Should a batter receive a walk with the bases filled he would get five points; two for his own advance to first base and the others for the advance of each base runner. If hit by the pitcher, the batter would get the same.

"That brings us to percentages. If a batter is up four times in a game and has made as a hitter and base runner 3 points his first time, 4 his second, 5 his third and none his fourth, he would have accumulated 12 points. Now, if he had a home run with the bases filled each time his total points would have been 48. Therefore the total number of points he could have achieved by a perfect performance divided into the number of points he actually made would give his offensive rating or efficiency average."

PORTSMOUTH (CP)—Sub-Lt. Johnny Loring, former University of Western Ontario Canadian Olympic star, outran Sydney Wooderson, noted British runner, in the first quarter of a relay race Saturday. He was running for the navy-marine team against combined London Athletic Clubs.

Wooderson won the half-mile event in 1:56.4.

Victoria's hopes for a British Columbia representative in the Dominion Cup soccer playdowns, are gone with the wind. On Saturday evening at Macdonald Park the United was blanked 2 to 0 by Cumberland Rangers in the island final. Playing on the grass pitch the clubs put on a fast, rugged exhibition for the good crowd.

Today in Vancouver the Cumberland lads engaged North Shore in a provincial semifinal. The winner will meet Kerrisdale in the B.C. final. The Kerries reached the last round Saturday by defeating Richmond 4 to 1.

Taking the field without the services of three regular forwards, Jimmy Worswick, Noel Morgan and Gordie Bell the United presented a sorry front line. There was absolutely no punch on the attack, enough openings being passed up to have scored at least half a dozen goals. Local defence was steady, although fullback Bobby Bell did too much sliding, allowing opposing forwards to break through.

Cumberland presented a bustling club that worked hard until it had established a lead and then laid back to play a spoiling game. The visitors' line-up included several Nanaimo players and was one of the strongest elvans to show here in recent years. However, with the United at full strength the story would have been written into the records.

Victoria put on the early pressure and in the first 15 minutes skied and Hope, local wingers, skied over the bar on four occasions with perfect goal openings. At the 20 minute mark the United were awarded a penalty for hands by Westfield, right half, Harold Sage's weak effort went sailing over the bar.

At the 25-minute mark Cumberland went into the lead, Jimmy Tannum picking the corner of the net after spotting the ball in front of the goal.

At the opening of the second period Moss, Victoria goalie, made a grand save from Watson on the right wing. With the United putting on a determined drive in an effort to score the equalizer Cumberland were hedged in their own half of the field. The local forwards passed up many chances by trying to carry the ball into the net instead of shooting. Game was held up while Cliff Robbins had a cut head repaired.

After 20 minutes of the half Rangers wrote finals to the scoring when Wilkinson, local back, deflected Conli's shot into the top corner of the net. The ball would have cleared the goal but for the back's attempted clearance.

For the remainder of the game Cumberland pulled nearly every man back and blocked their goal. Before the kick-off Magistrate Henry Hall, president of the Victoria and District League, called for two minutes' silence to honor the memory of Victoria boys lost on H.M.C.S. Fraser.

Alex Murray, Vancouver, referee.

Miss L. Kitchen, displaying fine form, disposed of Miss H. Peden, former club titleholder, 6-2 and 7-5 in the semifinals of the women's singles and then took the measure of Mrs. B. Dibb, 6-1, 10-8, in the final.

Other results follow:

Men's Singles
J. Anderson won from R. McInnes, 6-1, 6-2.

Men's Doubles
C. Margison and I. Temple won from O. Goldsmith and J. Clarke, 6-4, 6-3.

Mixed Doubles
Miss K. Harris and J. Anderson won from Miss P. Lockley and M. Winkler, 6-3, 6-2.

Women's Doubles
Mrs. Pritchard and Miss J. Peden won from Mrs. W. B. Brothers and M. Steele, 6-3, 6-2.

SCHOOL FOR BALL PLAYERS TO OPEN

Open to all youths who wish to learn the fine points of the game, the Victoria Baseball Association's 1940 baseball school will open at Athletic Park tomorrow morning at 10.

School will last throughout July and August. It is expected to attract scores of youths who have a desire to learn the game. Last year more than 125 youngsters enrolled.

The 1940 registration will open Tuesday morning.

Salmon Fishing

Mrs. Ismay Top Angler

going as high as 14 fish to a boat, and including at least four button catches in all.

Ray Ritchie, president of the V.S.I.A.A., after years of effort with rod, reel and line, finally won a place for himself in the Chinook Club when he caught his first button fish, a 22½-pounder.

B. Southern copped his bronze button with a 27½-pound silver-cod, and W. A. Smith landed a 22-pounder to also win his bronze emblem of angling prowess.

Probably the best boatload of fish was brought in by Slim and George Silburn. They had 14 fine specimens aboard, the largest being 19 pounds.

The fish are being taken fairly close to the surface, with superior, diamond, Mac West, other kinds of large spoons and plugs getting results. Bamberston and the Deep Hole are where the big ones are being caught.

Yesterday and for several days fishing has been excellent in Saanich Inlet—the best in several years for this time of year, according to the experts. Splendid catches were reeled in yesterday.

Galento Hurt

Hit by Flying Mug

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Apparently a beer glass, sailing through the air with the greatest of ease, was too small a detail to change Tony Galento's mind today about his ability to belt out Maxie Baer in the local park tomorrow night.

Tony and Madcap Maxie wound up their training yesterday, such as it was, but the round gentleman from Orange was around today sporting a bandage on his chin, covering a cut brought about by the aforementioned beer glass. Complete details were still the secret of Tony's bar-room today, but the Newark Star Ledger found witnesses who reported Tony had been having a dispute with his brother Russell, who pitched a beer glass at him in a moment of excitement.

He received a cut about an inch long, they said, and was taken to a physician's office for treatment. However, Mike Jacobs, who is promoting tomorrow night's "Battle of the Bums," announced Tony's managers had advised him a little thing like a split chin wouldn't bother Two-Ton.

"They told me," Mike explained, "that Tony's injury was only minor, and that he would fight on schedule tomorrow night."

The great man himself was heard from today. In a telegram to the Associated Press, he said: "I am okay. Will fight Max Baer tomorrow night."

AL COPLAND DIES

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Copland, 77, racing editor of the New York Daily News and former track star and coach, died Saturday. He was founder of the American Athletic Union.

The freight handlers packed far too much class and power for the American club and result of either game was seldom in doubt. Bonner hurled for the local club in the afternoon and Byers handled the chores in the evening affair.

Longshoremen treated the visitors to a good display of home run hitting with Berry, Knapp and Dale, providing circuit blows.

Leonard smacked a homer for Bremerton in the night game, with the bases loaded, providing his club with all its runs.

Timothy, former Ladysmith player, pitched for the visitors in the night game.

Short scores follow:

First game—R. H. E.
Bremerton 2 5 6
V.I.A. 8 8 9

Batteries—Gold and Kelly; Bonner and Berry.

Second game—R. H. E.
V.I.A. 15 17 1
Bremerton 4 15 5

Batteries—Byers and Berry; Timothy and Gold.

INTERMEDIATE CHAMPS

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—West-ern Monarchs of Vancouver are British Columbia soccer champions for the season. In an overtime match here Saturday they defeated Cumberland Wanderers 4 to 2.

The O. B. Allan Cup, emblematic of the championship, was presented to Roy Clark, Monarch captain, by Alderman J. G. Hindmarch, island football commissioner.

Cincinnati Moves Ahead With Smart Double Win

Incogs, Albions And C's Victors

Saturday's three matches in the Victoria and District Cricket Association saw Five C's defeat Victoria 133 to 89; University School Incogs won over Seattle, 150 for five wickets, to 145, and Albion turn back Cowichan 209, for three wickets declared, to 146.

After Seattle, playing with nine men, had put on 145 runs, featured by Eder Quinton's 91, Incogs opened strongly against the visiting bowler. Major Howden and Reg Wenman, opening partners, scored 69 and 39, respectively, and the Seattle score was passed with only four wickets down.

Five C's victory was highlighted by the batting of George Payne and Whitehead, whose totals were 51 and 36, respectively. Pennington and E. Gillespie headed Victoria batsmen.

At Cowichan the Albions were led at the wickets by a foursome including N. Smith, Pritchard, Loughlin and Pat Freeman. Walton was high bat for Cowichan with an even 60.

McMurtry Wins Thrilling Race

... as fine an exhibition of driving I've ever seen ..."

the words of Glen Shaw, Seattle, veteran racing car owner and follower of big car racing throughout the United States for many years, tells the story of the class of entertainment provided 1,500 fans at the Langford Speedway's international meet Saturday night.

Shaw, who acted as head timekeeper, was speaking of the 30-lap main event in which five American cars and five locals took the starter's flag.

Winner of the grueling contest was Lou McMurtry, Seattle, in car No. 6, after starting sixth. Ahead of him were Buddy Green in No. 23, Bill Gaylor, Portland, in No. 19, Fred Carson in No. 7, Claude Walling, Portland, in No. 9, and Joe Moore in No. 3.

Green took the lead from the start but was forced to drive at his maximum with the newcomer, Gaylor, on his tail for four laps. While they were battling it out, McMurtry was fighting his way up from the sixth spot and on the fifth lap he took advantage of a sideslip by Gaylor, and went into second position.

Then the fun began. Green was able to keep the Seattle speedster in line for 17 laps but he finally found the pace too hot. On the 21st lap, with McMurtry using every trick of the game to force him into making a mistake, he slid wide on the north west turn and lost control. The car went spinning madly across the track and the field miraculously got by without hitting him. He was able to start again and finished sixth.

That was not all, though. McMurtry took the lead and Jimmy Symes in Seth Renning's No. 5 car, jumped on his tail worrying him like a persistent tooth ache. Gaylor was in third place waiting for his chance. This went on until the last lap. The three of them came roaring into the final stretch. Symes went wide trying to nose out McMurtry and as he did so, Gaylor dove for the inside to finish second by inches.

Fourth was Joe Moore, and Digger Caldwell in No. 1 was fifth. Green was sixth and Jack Spaulding in No. 31 finished seventh. Time was 11:56.

Summer School Opens Tomorrow

Approximately 1,000 school teachers from all parts of British Columbia, the prairie provinces and United States, will attend the opening assembly of the Summer School at Victoria High School tomorrow morning at 11.

The opening ceremonies will be conducted by H. L. Campbell, principal. Members of the teaching staff for this year's session will be presented.

Each morning at 11 a special feature will be offered the student-school teachers in the assembly hall.

On Wednesday morning the Provincial Music Teachers' Federation will present Daphne Carapata, violinist; Eugene Maher, cellist; Beth Emery, pianist; and Annabelle MacKenzie Edwards, soprano, in a vocal and instrumental concert.

Thursday's feature will be an address by Capt. Elmore Philpott, writer of the Times editorial page feature, "As I See It," and commentator on the current world scene.

A vocal concert will be given Friday by England's famous two-part singers, Viola Morris, soprano, and Victoria Anderson, contralto.

The opening dance will be held Friday night at 8:30 in the school gymnasium. Members of Course No. 1 will act as hostesses.

HITCHHIKERS STEAL FROM KIND DRIVER

A couple of ungrateful young hitch hikers repaid the kindness of a soldier motorist who gave them a lift, by stealing his wallet containing $5.30 and personal papers, according to a city police report.

Elmer Campbell, 2622 Rosebury Avenue, reported to police he picked the youths up near the Six-Mile House and drove them to the city. After they left he discovered the wallet removed from his army tunic which was in the back seat.

Summer Home Lost in Fire

Fire of undetermined origin last night destroyed the summer home of J. H. Russell, 1319 Point Street, at Langford Lake, B.C. Police reported.

A crew from the Langford forestry station responded to the blaze but within a few minutes of its start the fire had taken a firm hold which repelled any efforts to save the structure.

Creery Boys to Follow Their Dad

Records at the University School show that Commander W. B. Creery, commander of H.M.C.S. Fraser, who went to the bottom off Bordeaux recently, attended that school 20 years ago and was a first-class student and athlete, and that now his two sons, Raymond, 16, and Timothy, 11, are enrolled there.

When the University School terms was completed a few days ago Raymond and Timothy returned to their home in Vancouver and with their mother when news came of the mishap to the Fraser.

Raymond was at the top of a cherry tree when a reporter and cameraman dropped in.

Elizabeth, six, and Timothy were down below, waiting for the cherries to drop.

Raymond climbed down to answer questions. He is following in his father's footsteps.

He proudly stated that he has written his exams for the navy, and expects to enter the service as a cadet next January, when he reaches the required age of 17.

"When I am 18, I'll become a midshipman," he said.

"I hope to go to England for training sometime after January," he declared.

Raymond is staunchly proud of his father, and proud that he will soon be able to enter the service to which his father devotes his life.

ANXIOUS TO START

His keen eyes sparkled with anticipation as he spoke of training in England. One could plainly see that he hopes he will see action before he is 18.

"We are glad father is safe, naturally. But, we are sorry about the lady who got theirs," Mrs. Creery celebrated two events on Friday.

It was her birthday, and she received news that her husband, Commander Creery, was safe at Devonport.

"I got just a brief cable," she said. "It said: 'Many happy returns.' That's all. That was his way of letting us know in advance that he was safe."

Timothy Creery, 11, is going to join the navy, too. He is a little young yet, but looks forward to the day when he can write the exams his brother Raymond has just completed.

Timothy also attends the University School.

Little Elizabeth goes to kindergarten in Vancouver.

SERVICE MARKS DOMINION DAY

Divine services in commemoration of Dominion Day were held yesterday at Beacon Hill Park and were attended by a large congregation.

The service was arranged by the Victoria Ministerial Association in conjunction with the Dominion Day celebrations committee, and ministers participating included Rev. F. Comley, Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie, Rev. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse and Adjutant Charles Watt. The Salvation Army band attended and presented a concert after the service.

Hymns included "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," "Recessional" and "Abide With Me."

The band program included the following selections: "Western Valley," march; "Cujus Animam," selection; "Love's Glad Song," cornet solo by Deputy Bandmaster William Hastings; "Onward Christian Soldiers," vocal selection; "Song of Wales"; "The Salvation Army," a descriptive march; "The Maple Leaf Forever" and "Rule Britannia"; "The Priceless Gift," euphonium solo by William Redcliffe; "The Long Day Closes"; "Keep Harmony," hymn, and "Victory" march.

Piano, Violin Pupils Gave Joint Recital

About 30 pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Semple appeared in a fine recital of pianoforte and violin numbers at the Victoria Truitt Centre on Friday evening.

Featured items were the violin ensembles, with Ursula Hills and Evelyn Pepper at the piano, duets by "Ailsa" Bradwood, former Victoria girl, who is now studying at Toronto University, who played two Grieg numbers, by Chinese students, and several trios.

Others taking part in the program were: Piano solos, Jean Macmillan, Anne Buckle, Rita Quan, Louise Quan, Alan Buckle, Lila Chou, Thelma Whyte, Kathleen Wilkinson, May Hope, Etta Norman, Grace Lee, Evelyn Pepper, Dorothy Bohannon, and Ursula Hills; piano duet, Louise Quan and Violet Chow; violin solos, Mabel "Gardiner," Lona Hawthornthwaite, Joan Cross, Jessie Kingscote, Terry Shaw, Jacqueline Line, Alice Gee, Joan Leslie, John Bong, Allan Anderson, Philip Chan and Ed Veach;

TOWN TOPICS

Court Victoria No. 8930, Ancient Order of Foresters, will meet in the A.O.F. Hall Wednesday evening at 8. There will be a joint installation of officers. Refreshments will be served.

St. Mark's Sunday School will hold its annual picnic on Wednesday. The children, who will leave the church at 1 p.m. for the Willows, are expected to take refreshments for supper. Members and friends of the church are invited.

Mrs. Jason Harns Post, well-known pioneer of Victoria, is today receiving congratulations on her 99th birthday, which she is quietly celebrating at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Post, 2570 Graham Street. Mrs. Post was born in Richmond, near Ottawa, in 1841, and moved with her parents to Belleville when she was four. There she married at the age of fifteen, and with her husband moved to Winnipeg in 1881, later to Port Arthur, and finally, in 1890, to Victoria. Mr. Post died 21 years ago.

Members of the 48th Battalion honored Major R. G. L. Parker, who is to go overseas again as second in command of the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, at a smoking concert held Saturday night in the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion clubhouse.

Major Parker, who was a guest of honor at the function, went overseas as a private with the 48th in the last World War. His fellow trenchmates of yesterday extended him congratulations on his new appointment and presented him with a solid silver monogrammed cigarette case.

Sergeant Major Thomas Crabtree made the presentation on behalf of the 48th.

Jack Neary, chairman of the 48th Battalion Association, presided. Other guests were Lieut. Col. W. H. Holmes, who commanded the 48th overseas; Major D. Porteous, adjutant; Major W. G. Cunningham, and R.S.M. Patrick Lelester.

A concert troupe under the direction of Alfred Adams provided entertainment. Artists performing were G. Todd, Jack Cleator, Bert Lillie, William Farmer, George Hepworth, James Matheson and Jack Weeks.

The team follows: Pitchers—Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, Cincinnati; Hugh Mulachy and Kirby Higbe, Philadelphia; Larry French, Chicago; Carl Hubbell, New York; and Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn.

Catchers—Harry Danning, New York; Ernest Lombardi, Cincinnati; and Babe Phelps, Brooklyn.

Infielders—Frank McCormick, Cincinnati; Pete Coscarat, Leo Durocher and Harry Lavagetto, Brooklyn; William Herman, Chicago; William Jurgens, New York; Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh; and Merrill May, Philadelphia.

Outfielders—Joe Medwick, Brooklyn; Joe Moore and Mel Ott, New York; Henry Leiber, Chicago; Max West, Boston, and Terry Moore, St. Louis.

Manager—Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati. Coaches—J. Thompson (Doc) Prothro, Philadelphia, and Casey Stengel, Boston.

JOKERS WIN IN UP-ISLAND TUSSELE

Johnny Vander Meer, pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, won the first game of the National League all-star baseball game at St. Louis July 9, defeating the American League team by a score of 1 to 0.

The game was a pitchers' duel, with Vander Meer throwing a complete game, allowing only one run, one hit and one error in nine innings.

The Cincinnati Reds won the game, 1 to 0, in the bottom of the ninth inning, when Vander Meer pitched a perfect game, allowing no hits, runs or errors.

The game was the first of a three-game series between the two teams, with the second game scheduled for July 10 and the third game for July 11.

Vander Meer Wins First in Minors

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Johnny Vander Meer, who pitched two consecutive no-hits, won the first game of the National League all-star baseball game at St. Louis July 9, defeating the American League team by a score of 1 to 0.

The game was a pitchers' duel, with Vander Meer throwing a complete game, allowing only one run, one hit and one error in nine innings.

The Cincinnati Reds won the game, 1 to 0, in the bottom of the ninth inning, when Vander Meer pitched a perfect game, allowing no hits, runs or errors.

The game was the first of a three-game series between the two teams, with the second game scheduled for July 10 and the third game for July 11.

CINCINNATI MOVES AHEAD WITH SMART DOUBLE WIN

Tigers didn't help their title chances much when they dropped the first game to St. Louis 7 to 6, although they evened the day's count with a 10 to 1 victory in a seven-inning afterpiece, largely due to Johnny Gorsch's five-hit hurling.

Marvin Breuer pitched the New York Yankees to their third straight victory over the Philadelphia's, 4 to 3, in the first game, but Monte Pearson bowled to Johnny Babich in the second game, and the A's made off with a 3 to 2 victory. Babich allowed the champs only five hits.

The Boston Red Sox made good on two chances against the Washington Senators, claiming the first one by 5 to 3, thanks to homers by Joe Cronin and Bobby Doerr, and the second one by 5 to 4 in spite of opponent Walter Masterson's seven-hit game.

Where to Go Tonight

(As Advertised)

ATLAS — "Irene," starring Anna Neagle.

CADET—Wallace Beery in "Treasure Island."

CAPITOL—Vivian Leigh and Robert Taylor in "Waterloo Bridge."

DOMINION — Wallace Beery and Marjorie Rambeau in "20 Mule Team."

OAK BAY—Young Mr. Lincoln, starring Henry Fonda.

PLAZA—Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in "Rose Marie."

RIO—"Mutiny on the Blackhawk," starring Richard Arlen.

'Bill of Divorcement' Coming to Dominion

Should a man who returns from the obscurity of a long illness expect his estranged wife to give up her new-found happiness with another man?

This weighty question creates dramatic complications in "A Bill of Divorcement," with Maureen O'Hara, Adolphe Menjou, Fay Bainter and Herbert Marshall in the principal roles, coming to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

Cast in her first modern drama, Maureen O'Hara, who recently scored as the gypsy girl in the historical epic, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," plays a young English girl whose nerve-shattering father escapes from a lunatic asylum and returns home on the eve of his wife's marriage to another man.

SLAVE RUNNING DRAMA AT RIO

Graphically presenting a little known chapter of history dealing with slave running between Hawaii and California in 1840, Universal's adventure drama, "Mutiny on the Blackhawk," comes today to the Rio Theatre.

Co-starring Richard Arlen and Andy Devine, the picture's supporting cast includes Constance Moore, Noah Beery, Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, Mabel Albertson, Sandra Kane, Thurston Hall, Mamo Clark and Princess Luana.

Stressing action, thrills and dramatic suspense, highlights of the swiftly paced film feature a mutiny aboard a slave-ship on the high seas, the bartering of natives in a tropical paradise and powerful battle scenes.

Warmerdam Sets World Record

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—A new and glowing chapter for the record book was left behind today in the wind-up of the Amateur Athletic Association championship.

Denied international competition because of war-wrecked Olympic Games, the cream of United States track and field stars staged their own "American Olympic" Saturday night in spectacular fashion, topped by Cornelius Warmerdam's world's record-bettering pole vault of 15 feet, 1 1/4 inches.

Earlier in the season, the Tuolumne, Calif., school teacher, set a new mark of 15 feet for the event.

The official record is 14 feet, 11 inches, set by Earl Meadows and Bill Sefton while competing for the University of Southern California. Meadows finished fourth Saturday night at 12 feet, 6 inches.

The 32nd annual A.A.U. meet also saw the world's record for the 200-metre hurdle tie by Fred Wolcott of Rice Institute. He was clocked in 22.6 seconds, equalling Jesse Owens' time set in 1935.

Drama was written into the 1,500-metre run. The veteran Glenn Cunningham, making his final appearance as a competitive athlete, lost out in the last few strides to Walter Mehrl, University of Wisconsin, who charged home for a new American record.

His time of 3:45.9 was only one-tenth of a second slower than the world's record held by Jack Lovelock of New Zealand.

ANNA NEAGLE IN MUSICAL 'IRENE'

Anna Neagle, top-ranking English screen star of today, forsakes the serious drama of her recent performances in "Nurse Edith Cavell" to show audiences a sparkling and tuneful portrayal in RKO Radio's "Irene," gay comedy musical now at the Atlas Theatre.

Formerly a musical comedy star before turning to the screen, Miss Neagle is an ideal choice for the part of the dashing little Irish sales girl who becomes the bride of a young millionaire.

Ray Milland, as co-star, and Roland Young, Alan Marshal, May Robson and Billie Burke have other important roles.

'ROSE MARIE' NOW AT PLAZA

"Rose Marie," the smash hit starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy opened today at the Plaza Theatre.

The musical numbers are well staged and brilliantly sung. One of them, the Totem Pole sequence, is peopled by more than a thousand dancers. Spectacular in its giant effects it will go on record as one of the most thrilling scenes ever brought to the screen.

A strong supporting cast includes James Stewart, Reginald Owen, Allan Jones and Una O'Connor.

'YOUNG LINCOLN' OAK BAY SHOW

In a crowded, hostile courtroom came young Abe Lincoln's first challenge—and he was able to meet it! Not the story of the Great Emancipator, but rather a real and human chapter in the youth of Lincoln is the theme of Lamar Trotter's screen play for Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Young Mr. Lincoln."

The Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century-Fox depicts with simplicity, wit and power young Lincoln's first challenge, first tragedy, first love and first fame.

Henry Fonda, in the title role, is co-featured with Alice Brady, Marjorie Weaver and Arleen Whelan in the film opening today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

'TREASURE ISLAND' CADET FEATURE

Lionel Barrymore's makeup as Billy Bones, famous old buccaner of "Treasure Island," Robert Louis Stevenson's classic filmed recently, should have been just about perfect, because he studied a painting of the character for more than five years!

The star revealed his intimate acquaintance with the pirate during the first day of filming of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture to be shown today at the Cadet Theatre, with Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper in co-starring roles.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Vivian Leigh and Robert Taylor already have been voted the outstanding romantic team of 1940, judging from the enthusiastic audience reception accorded "Waterloo Bridge," which is at the Capitol Theatre.

The brilliant drama from the pen of the Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, Robert E. Sherwood, comes to the screen as the most tender and heart-tugging love story since "Seventh Heaven," with added interest in its timely and vividly pictured background of London of the war years 1917 and 1940.
